Giant Globemaster Plummets In Japan, Kills 127 Soldiers In Greatest Airplane Disaster

Does Backflip Shortly After Its Take-off

Field Is Littered With Bodies, Scene Is Like Nightmare

TOKYO (AP) — A giant C-24 Globemaster pinwheeled out of the murky sky near Tokyo today and crashed in flames carrying at least 122 and possibly 130 Americans to their deaths in history's worst air disaster.

The Air Force said 55 bodies had been identified and the death toll could be 127 or 130. The huge doubledeck transport was carrying 120 to 123 army engineers and airmen back to battle stations in Korea. The plane had a crew of seven.

The Globemaster crashed seconds after taking off from the U. S. air base at Tachikawa, 25 miles west of Tokyo.

An eyewitness said the giant plane "somersaulted like a bird and plummeted to the ground."

A Japanese farmer, Masayasu Kinoshita, said "The huge plane came skimming over the trees by the highway. Two of its four propellers were not turning. Then it circled and crashed and exploded."

The plane was a special flight for soldiers, not one of the regular courier runs between Japan and Korea.

The worst previous air disaster was the crash of another Globemaster near Larson Air Force Base at Moses Lake, Wash., which killed 86 last Dec. 20.

Associated Press Correspondent Stan Carter, reporting from the scene, said sickened Air Force medics toiled under searchlights carrying broken bodies to ambulances across 100 yards of deep mud.

"The scene was like something out of hell," Carter said.

There was the terrible smell of burned oil and burned human flesh intermingled.

"The bodies were terribly mangled.

"One medic tried to pick up one body and put it on a stretcher. The head fell off.

"The wreckage was all tangled into one concentrated spot — the plane must have come straight down and exploded. There were balls of crumpled metal 30 feet high."

Names of the dead will not be released until next of kin are notified.

Associated Press Photographer Max Desfor also reported from the scene.

"The plane crashed in a muddy rice field just in front of a bamboo grove.

"There were large pieces of the wreck still intact, including one twisted wing.

"One tangle of wreckage with an engine was jammed into a crumpled heap about 30 feet high.

"It looked as if the plane had come almost straight in.

"An Air Force major from Tachikawa said his men had removed nearly 130 bodies.

"An ambulance driver said 'It was a terrible sight. They were mangled horribly.'

"We got right up to the scene and an air police demanded 'crash passes.'" Desfor said. "We explained we were accredited correspondents and were admitted. After I took pictures some guard said the film would be seized and turned over to the Tachikawa base commander.

"However, the matter was straightened out and we retained the film."

The Air Force issued the following statement:

"A U. S. Air Force C-124 Globemaster, returning for a landing, crashed shortly after takeoff from Tachikawa Air Installation west of Tokyo at 4:34 this afternoon, with approximately 120 passengers and a crew of seven on board.

The four - engined transport crashed and burned in a clearing near the village of Kodaira, four miles east-northeast of the air installation 25 miles west of Tokyo.

"First reports said there was one Japanese injured by the crash.

"Emergency medical teams and crash crews from nearby Air Force installations rushed to the scene immediately. An Air Force helicopter circled the crash area immediately and reported there were no survivors."

The Air Force said there was some light rain and fog as the plane left Tachikawa, but the weather was not bad enough to ground aircraft.

It said there was a ceiling of about 1,000 feet and visibility of about one mile. A spokesman said the safety limits are a 250-foot ceiling and half-mile visibility.

All Army rest and recuperation leaves in Japan were cancelled Thursday after the South Korean government released 25,000 anti-Communist war prisoners from Allied compounds in Korea. But it appeared probable that the men aboard the doomed plane already had completed their leave.

A spokesman pointed out that it normally takes more than a day to process returning leave troops and probably would take longer to get men recalled on emergency orders.

Japanese firemen were the first to reach the blazing plane.

Patrol Moves Sgt. Barton; Promotes Him

Sgt. W. S. Barton, 1700 Harrison, who has been stationed here with the Missouri Highway Patrol for the past 4½ years, has been promoted to lieutenant and transferred to Troop C at Kirkwood.

This change, which goes into effect July 1, was announced Wednesday by Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, the patrol superintendent.

He will succeed Lt. H. H. Schaperkotter who is being transferred back to Troop F at Jefferson City in his old job of sergeant.

Barton, one of the patrol's airplane pilots, has been with the organization since 1939. During Gov. Donnelly's first term he was acting superintendent of the State Training School for Boys at Boonville during reorganization of the school.

Replacing Barton here will be Sgt. E. W. Van Winkle who has been a trooper at Lexington.

Footings Go In For NEM New Building

Bricklayers Will Begin On Walls By Next Wednesday

Footings for the new factory building for the National Engineering and Manufacturing Co., at 16th and Lamine, are being poured and the Patterson Bros., contractors for the construction, expect bricklayers to begin erection of the concrete block walls by Wednesday of next week.

The footing for the east wall and for a part of the north wall are already in and the excavation work for the remainder of the north wall and for the west wall is about finished.

Footings vary in depth from four to seven feet, depending upon the amount of the fill that was necessary in leveling the plot.

For those who drive by the site and see the ground, it will be interesting to note that the area for the building is almost exactly level. It does not appear that way from the west and north, that view making it appear the ground slopes to the north.

The Pattersons report Fisher and Fisher "did a fine job" of moving the dirt and leveling the area.

After the walls are up, and the posts have been erected in the center of the space, the steel beams can be put in place for the roof.

In front of the main building, at the southwest corner, will be an office building and a paint building will be to the west of the main structure at the north end.

The building is being built by the Sedalia Improvement Association from funds being raised in the current industrial fund campaign of the Chamber of Commerce. A total of about $110,000 will be needed and the amount raised and pledged by investors to date is just over $73,000.

Bill Would Ban Sale Of Display Fireworks

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A bill to ban retail sales of visual effect fireworks — including sparklers—in Illinois moved to the desk of Gov. William G. Stratton today.

The bill prohibits sale of devices such as "flower pots" and pinwheels, used mostly for night displays.

ROKs Revolt, Free 25,000 Anti-Red PWs

Immediately Start To Enlist Them In Their Army

TOKYO (AP)—South Korea revolted against the U. N. command and its armistice terms today, freeing some 25,000 anti-Red Korean prisoners and announcing immediate steps to enlist most of them in its own army.

President Syngman Rhee's arbitrary order turned South Korea's anti-truce threats into direct action, catching his allies flat-footed and leaving them sharply resentful.

What effect it would have on the truce — now apparently only an arm's reach away—was not known. No official source would speculate.

In Seoul, a reliable source incicated that Rhee has sent a flat "no" to President Eisenhower's June 6 appeal for South Korea to accept the armistice. The source quoted Rhee as telling Eisenhower that South Korea would perish under the truce terms.

South Korean guards in four camps turned their backs as the prisoners fled into the morning darkness.

Small bands of Americans tried vainly to stop the exodus.

A few hours later, a high South Korean military authority said most of the prisoners would be enlisted in the ROK army. That could add about two divisions to the 16-division ROK force.

He indicated that prisoners from two camps — Nansan and Sang-Mudai—went to nearby ROK military training centers with the aid of South Korean military personnel immediately after fleeing from the camps.

An American officer said many ROK officers from the prison camps fled with the prisoners.

Meanwhile, the U. N. command said it handed the Reds a letter at Panmunjom reporting the ROK guards had been replaced by U. S. troops and that every effort is being made to recapture the 24,000 prisoners still loose.

There were reports that the prisoners were being taken into private homes and farms, or hiding in the hills. Rhee had urged all civilians to help the prisoners.

Rhee explained his sudden break in a statement:

"The reason why I did this without full consultation with the U. N. Command and other authorities concerned is too obvious to explain . . .

"According to the Geneva Convention and . . . principles of human right . . . (the) prisoners should have been released long before this."

No official source would speculate whether that would delay or block an armistice that had seemed only an arm's reach away.

First reaction from observers was that Rhee's move would not keep the Allies from signing an armistice agreement.

However, some sources said the Reds might balk and demand delivery of the prisoners. They were part of 46,380 anti-Red North Koreans and Chinese who refused to go home and thus became a problem that was resolved only last week after months of negotiations.

Rhee's order came last night. By 5 a. m. 25,000 prisoners had slipped away in the darkness and scattered.

With most of the 16,000 South Korean guards standing by idly, small numbers of surprised Americans tried to stop the flight with rifle fire, but they were too few.

Nine prisoners were killed and 16 were wounded.

U. N. troops recaptured 971 prisoners, even as Lt. Gen. Won Yong Duk, South Korean provost marshal, warned that anyone who tried to arrest them—"regardless of nationality"—would be dealt with severely. He said he had ordered

Four Hundred POWs Clash With Marines Near Inchon

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Four hundred anti-Communist North Korean prisoners broke from an Allied prison camp near Inchon early today after a bloody clash with U. S. Marine guards.

The prisoners, joining 25,000 others who had broken from four camps in South Korea yesterday, stamped through barbed wire fences in a hail of bullets from the Marines, who had just been rushed up to replace South Korean guards.

Camp authorities said 10 prisoners were killed and 93 wounded in a wild clash in the dark with the combat-tested marines and U. S. Army soldiers. One Marine guard was wounded seriously.

The camp, four miles from Seoul's port city of Inchon, had been quiet throughout the day and on until shortly before midnight.

Then the 1,400 to 1,500 prisoners in the camp made their bid for freedom in the murky darkness. First they hurled stones, then charged the barbed wire surrounding the compound.

The Marines fired rifles and pistols in a wild melee.

The wounded were taken to a hospital in Inchon harbor, at least 14 of them in serious condition.

Lt. Col. Alanson Leland, camp commander, estimated the number who escaped at 400, but said a head count could not be made until after daybreak.

Quiet had returned to the camp by 2 a. m. (11 a. m. Thursday, CST).

An American officer at the camp said no order was issued to the marines to fire on the prisoners but witnesses said shots were fired.

The officer who refused use of his name, said the Marines were under orders to "maintain uncontested control" of the camp and to "fire only in self defense."

The Marines also used tear gas and vomiting gas in an effort to quell the mass break.

Associated Press Correspondent Milo Farneti, reporting from the scene, said the "situation still was tense inside the compound at 2 a. m. today."

Farneti reported that many of the wounds were suffered by prisoners as they crashed through the strands of barbed wire.

Fate of Truce Might Depend On Rhee Move

Draft Is Finished Even As Prisoners Race to Freedom

MUNSAN (AP)—The draft of a Korean truce apparently was completed today but its fate might turn on President Syngman Rhee's open defiance of his allies in arbitrarily releasing 25,000 anti-Red prisoners of war.

Rhee's order opening the gates of four POW camps in this morning's darkness was in direct opposition to the armistice terms.

Even as the prisoners scattered, it appeared that all details of an armistice agreement had been wrapped up and the final text was being rushed to completion.

Preparations for exchanging thousands of war prisoners were rushed by both sides. U. N. officials speculated on whether Rhee's action might delay the return of some 13,000 U. N. prisoners held by the Reds.

Official U. N. sources in Tokyo said they did not expect Rhee's move to wreck the armistice, but a delay was anticipated. The Reds might demand delivery of the escaped prisoners before signing a truce.

Staff officers who have been putting the finishing touches on the armistice wound up their sessions at 12:30 p. m. and translators went to work immediately. They presumably were putting the document into English, Korean and Chinese.

The staff officers recessed indefinitely.

There was no announcement as to when the top-level negotiators would meet to approve the text.

Some observers said it was possible the armistice agreement would have to be sent to Washington and U. N. headquarters in New York for approval. This would take several days.

Meanwhile, both sides acted as though a truce were still no more than a few days away.

Communist work crews tore down mud huts in Panmunjom and began construction of what appeared to be a large permanent building. This may be the site of the official signing and could serve as headquarters for the military armistice commission.

U. N. officials stepped up the job of clearing sites for exchanging prisoners and top officers who will serve on the military armistice commission.

U. N. officials stepped up the job of clearing sites for exchanging prisoners and top officers who will serve on the military armistice commission flew to Korea.

At Freedom Village near here, where prisoners will get their first real taste of freedom, full-dress rehearsals were held to iron the kinks out of procedures developed during the exchange of sick and wounded last April.

The U. N. advance camp here also was being enlarged.

There's Little Hope For Cooler Weather Throughout Missouri

KANSAS CITY (AP) —"Hot and humid," is the sad weather news for Missourians.

Today the mercury is expected to reach 105 in the southwest with readings in the 90s in the northeast.

But for tomorrow the weatherman just predicted 95 to 105 for the entire state.

And there is no relief in sight. The mercury moved up rapidly yesterday, hitting 100 at Joplin and 96 at West Plains, Kansas City, Springfield, and Malden.

Kansas city led the state with an all-night low of 80 degrees.

Other high readings yesterday included St. Joseph 94, St. Louis 93, Columbia 91, Rolla 90 and Kirksville 86.

Mongrel Dog Keeps Vigil For His Pal Stuck In Manhole

TRENTON (AP) — A mongrel dog maintained a vigil at a sewer manhole today after efforts had been abandoned to rescue his constant companion which had fallen into the opening.

City workers gave up their efforts to reach the trapped dog yesterday when they no longer could hear the dog bark and whine in the sewer.

'Phone Operators Leave Jobs Today

Management Takes Over Switchboards Soon After Girls Leave to Attend Union Meeting; Union Asks More Workers Be Put On Duty

UNION STATEMENT

"There is a limit to the (physical) endurance and capacity of each and every individual." Mrs. Mildred Jaeger, secretary - third steward of the CWO-CIO Local No. 6301, said this morning with reference to the telephone operators leaving their job assignments to attend a mass meeting of the Local held at the Bothwell Hotel. "This is not a strike, nor is it a walkout. We were ordered, as members of the Local, to attend a meeting," she concluded.

Miss Mary Jane Williams, first steward of the local, said the shortage of operators was such the present girls could not give the proper service to which the public is entitled. "The insufficient help has caused delays in telephone service and the girls are tired of taking critical comments from the public for something over which they have no control."

It was explained by Miss Williams that expansion of business, in more accounts and more telephones being added to the local boards, without additional help being authorized, has created the shortage.

Miss Williams said that the company has four schedules a year on which it sets up the hours the operators work. The recent schedule, presented June 3 to the girls, was not accepted by the Local, and they have been continuing on their usual schedule.

A meeting of the Local was held Wednesday night at which time the operators voted unanimously to reject the new schedule of hours presented, contending there is insufficient help for the business.

The spokeswoman also brought out this is the only dispute, the heat had no bearing on the meeting and the call for a mass meeting, which all members were ordered to attend. "The company explained recently to our satisfaction the reason they could not install air conditioning. They have tried to help the situation by placing tubs in the office filled with ice with fans blowing over them and on the extreme hot day last week had cold lemonade for the girls to drink.

"At our meeting Wednesday night the members voted for the general meeting to be held at 9 a. m. Thursday, and the members were instructed to be present at that time.

"We are asking for a meeting with management, and hope to have our problem settled as soon as possible," she stated.

Also attending the meeting were plant, construction, maintenance workers of the telephone company as well as several Western Electric employees who work at the telephone company building.

Mrs. Willa Mae Gillaspy, second steward in the Local, concurred with the statements of Miss Williams and Mrs. Jaeger.

MANAGEMENT STATEMENT

About 30 telephone operators left their switchboards at the local Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. at 9 o'clock Thursday morning "to attend a general meeting." It was only minutes earlier they had told company officials of their plan.

The exit of the operators left the switchboards unmanned for a very short period since management employees immediately took up their places and began trying to resume and maintain as near normal operations as possible.

Jack Shoemaker, local manager for Southwestern Bell, said he knew the service would not be as good as possible while the less experienced management officials were on the boards, but asked the public to be patient. He promised that all calls will be handled as speedily as possible.

Except for the announcement of the operators "going to a meeting," there was no other explanation given the company, Shoemaker said, for the workers leaving their posts.

He said that a meeting had been held Tuesday with management and labor being represented. At that time the union employes had brought up two questions for discussion: (1) air conditioning of the office and (2) the work load of the workers.

It appeared at the time of the meeting, Shoemaker said, that all were satisfied with the explanations given by company officials concerning these two questions.

Whether Thursday's meeting resulted from Tuesday's session, to relate the explanations of Tuesday, to accept them or to protest them, was not made known to the company.

William Jolly, district traffic superintendent, Moberly, was notified in St. Louis of the meeting of the operators. Jolly indicated he would return to Sedalia immediately. He attended the meeting with the operators Tuesday.

14 Pettis Men Leave to Join Army as Draftees

Fourteen Pettis County men left Thursday for Kansas City where they will be inducted into the armed forces. They were called through the local Selective Service office and will serve for 24 months.

Included in the group were:

Ralph E. Dove, route 2, Green Ridge; Carl Lee Gregory, route 1, Windsor; James D. Menefee, 62. West Fourth; Robert B. Stanley, 706 West Seventh; Harold D. Yancey, route 1, La Monte; Billy L. Cline, 1428 South Sneed; Eldon M. Harbit, route 1, Lincoln; Robert L. Stroup, 2220 East Broadway; James E. Ridenour, route 2, Green Ridge; John R. Hays, Leeton; George P. Miller, 1403 West Fourth; Walter D. Smith, Hughesville; Hubert G. Bishop, 1208 South Washington; and James R. Blackburn, Houstonia.

Over 1,000 Letters Here Wait To Be Mailed as Airport Opens

More than 1,000 letters are being kept in a box at the Sedalia post office waiting to be mailed on the day the Municipal Airport is dedicated — a date not yet set, nor much more than contemplated.

All of them will probably be imprinted with a cachet and many of them will be autographed by Postmaster Maurice Hogan. Then they'll be run through the cancellation machines on the day of the dedication.

Received from almost every state in the union and from Hawaii, the letters were sent by the stamp collectors and are addressed back to themselves.

Many collectors keep envelopes mailed from towns on the days of the opening of airports, or try to get a letter carried on the first regular mail flight on a new run between cities.

The cachet, which is a term the philatelists (stamp collectors) give to a special design printed on an envelope, will tell of the occasion.

For the dedication of Sedalia's airport Postmaster Hogan, who is also an artist, has designed a cachet. He cannot, however, under postal regulations, affix the cachet. He hopes someone, or some group, will have a rubber stamp made from the drawing and take over the duties of stamping the cachet to all the envelopes on hand — and those yet to be received.

Some of the collectors want the postmaster's signature along with the cachet, and Hogan is ready and willing to sign his name as many times as requested, although he admits he's going to have to get started if the amount of mail continues to grow.

The letters have been coming in for several months and the box keeps getting fuller and fuller. When an announcement is made for the date of the dedication there will, no doubt, be many more received.

High Court Meets To Decide Whether A-Spies Must Die

Vinson Calls Justices to Order To Consider Petition by Brownell For Reversal of Stay of Execution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court met at 11:12 a. m. (EST) today in an extraordinary session which will decide whether atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg must go to the electric chair tonight.

All nine justices were present.

Chief Justice Vinson called the court together to consider a petition by Atty. Gen. Brownell that they override the action yesterday of Justice William O. Douglas in granting a stay of execution to the husband and wife spy team.

In all its history, the court never before had been convened in special session for such a purpose.

If a majority agrees to overrule Douglas, the condemned atom spies could be put to death at Sing Sing prison at 10 p. m. (EST) tonight as had been scheduled before Douglas issued his stay order or at any time before Saturday midnight.

The justices met in closed conference for 15 minutes before the start of the public session.

The momentous gathering attracted the largest crowd in the court's history. Some 1,000 persons lined the corridors outside as the justices entered the chamber.

The courtroom, which seats only about 300, was packed to capacity. Would-be spectators showed up as early as 8 a. m.

Before the public session began, it was announced that each side would have an hour and a half to present arguments.

Robert L. Stern, acting solicitor general, appeared for the government.

Stern began his argument two minutes after the court convened.

At Chief Justice Vinson's summons, the justices interrupted their summer recess to consider once again the case of the man and wife sentenced to die in Sing Sing's electric chair because, a jury found, they passed atomic secrets to Russia.

Justice Douglas, who decided yesterday that a legal point of sufficient substance to merit an indefinite stay of execution had been raised, first heard of the unusual session over a motel radio in Pennsylvania. He arranged to fly back to Washington this morning.

Assuming the weather permitted Douglas' flight from Pittsburgh, there were at least seven of the nine justices known to be in Washington or close enough to return in time for the unusual session, which Vinson called for 11 a. m.

Six constitutes a quorum entitled to conduct business.

Douglas' grant of a stay of execution touched off a rapid sequence of events yesterday.

The Justice Department moved for a reversal, "as expeditiously as possible" but without "unseemly haste," of what Atty. Gen. Brownell termed an "unprecedented" action by the justice.

Vinson, within six hours after Douglas' decision was announced, called the justices back from the recess they had started Monday. He said attorneys for the government and the Rosenbergs could argue the case in open court.

Rep. Wheeler (D-Ga) moved in the House to have Douglas impeached for "high crimes and misdemeanors" which he did not specify. His announcement that he would do so drew applause in the House.

In New York, the "Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case" announced it would send two trainloads of people to the capital today to protest Wheeler's move and to uphold Douglas.

The unofficial legal consensus was that if the justices who assembled today should overturn Douglas' decision, the effect would be as if nothing had happened since Monday, when the court refused for a fourth time to review the case.

It was thought possible that, if that was the court's decision, the execution might go on tonight as scheduled.

In any event, U. S. District Judge Irving R. Kaufman of New York had fixed the execution for the current week, and his mandate could be carried out by officials of the prison at Ossining, N. Y., any time before midnight Saturday.

Should no decision be forthcoming this week, and if the eventual decision should go against the Rosenbergs, a new date would have to be set by Judge Kaufman.

Reds Execute Man Charged As Riot Chief

Soviets Delcare German Organized Anti-Red Siege

BERLIN (AP) — A Russian firing squad today executed a German accused by the Soviet army command of organizing anti-communist riots in East Berlin.

Major General P. T. Dibrova, now ruling East Berlin under a state of siege, announced the execution.

The Soviet general described the dead man, Willi Goettling, as "a resident of West Berlin, who worked on order of a foreign intelligence service, was one of the active organizers of provocations and disturbances in the Soviet sector of Berlin, and participated in the violent banditry against the organs of power and the population."

"Goettling was sentenced to death by shooting. The sentence was carried out," the grim announcement concluded.

The Russians extended martial law to areas bordering East Berlin and began a series of mass arrests in an effort to stamp out the unrest which exploded in the sector yesterday and resulted in at least 16 fatalities.

The Russian military commander's announcement was distributed by the Soviet zone news agency ADN.

More than 100 Germans were reported under arrest today in East Berlin and facing Soviet courts. Flying squads of people's police and Communist party officials raided workers' homes, hunting suspects.

West Germany wondered if the Soviet army would stop its firing squad after the one execution as a terror example.

Most of the arrested Germans were, by Communist admission, residents of East Berlin and not the Allied sectors. But Red propaganda continued to harp on the charge that "Western provocateurs" instigated the anti-Communist rebellion.

Some of the oldest employes of nationalized plants and factories were seized last night and this morning. They were pointed out by Communist informers as men who had led the march of 50,000 workers against the government headquarters yesterday.

Unconfirmed reports said from 23 to 38 persons had been killed in half a dozen cities and East Berlin yesterday.

The Communist police radio announced the martial law edict for Potsdam, where the Soviet army has its headquarters in East Germany, and Babelsberg, where the Soviet military commander, Col. Gen. A. A. Gretchko, has his residence. A 10 p. m. to 6 a. m. curfew was imposed on the two suburbs.

Truckers plying the international highway between Berlin and West Germany reported anti-Red rioting had broken out yesterday in Magdeburg, Chemnitz, Dresden, Leipzig, Gera and other cities simultaneously with the cyclonic outburst here.

The truckers relayed one rumor that seven or eight had been killed in Magdeburg and another that the death toll had reached 22.

Another report said rioters stormed a concentration camp in the East zone and freed some of the 13,000 political prisoners before Russian troops got control.

Russian steel sealed off East Berlin completely today. A full armored division deployed along the 27-mile frontier and let no one in or out except physicians. The Iron Curtain was more complete than ever in the bizarre history of this quartered city.

The Soviet army was reported to have poured out from its compounds in full combat strength from the Elbe to the Oder in order to put a firm lid on the strife-torn East zone.

Underneath the mailed fist, the German population was in virtual hiding. There were hints some of it was deliberate, a kind of stay-at-home strike.

The Berlin revolt filled the press of Western Germany with demands that the Western powers seize the initiative and demand that Russia yield to free elections and full freedom for a united Germany.

Iberia Sells Jail To Local Church

IBERIA (AP) —The idea down in this little Miller County town (pop. 595) is to try saving them first instead of jailing them later.

The city's jail was sold the other day to one of the seven churches.

As a last resort, though, anyone who bucks law and order can be jailed in the county clink at Tuscumbia, 15 miles away.

Rhee Is Reported To Reject Ike's Plea for Truce

SEOUL (AP)—A reliable South Korean source indicated tonight President Syngman Rhee said "no" to President Eisenhower's urgent June 6 appeal for South Korea to accept an armistice.

Rhee has answered formally Eisenhower's letter.

The source said its text would be made public tomorrow.

He said Rhee told Eisenhower South Korea would die if present truce terms are accepted — that such a truce would allow the Reds to build strength without interruption and invade South Korea again at will.

He said Rhee asked Eisenhower: "What will happen to the rest of Asia and what will happen to the rest of the free world?"

New Bathroom Fixtures Far Cry From Old

BY MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

In bygone years Americans spoke of their homes as having "five rooms (more or less) and a path." Then along came some ingenious fellow (or fellows) who dreamed up bathrooms, and the path moved into the home. Since then fellows of that stripe have come a long way on the slogan, "Build a Better Bathroom."

It would be well to look into what they've accomplished if you intend to modernize your present bathroom, or if you're building a new home and want to have "nothing but the best" in the bathroom.

Let's take a look at fixtures, using the bathroom and shower as the first examples.

Bathtubs are more compact, attractive and far safer than ever before. They are made in a variety of shapes — some are even square —in sizes from 42-by-31 inches to five feet by 30 inches, and may be fitted in corners or end walls. The better tubs have a raised edge on the side toward the wall to help prevent seepage of water into the wall.

Showers, of course, may be over the tub or in separate cabinets. Prefabricated shower cabinets are a coming thing because they are versatile; ideal for installation in bothrooms, attics, basements and garages in spaces as small as 32 inches square and 76 inches high.

There is something new in shower heads, too. They are nonclogging and adjustable to the spray you prefer. Mixing valves are improved and provide either thermostatic control of water temperature one - valve mixing control, or a two - valve control for manually tempering the water.

Water closets are of three main types — the wash down, the reverse trap and the siphon jet. The first mentioned is least expensive, while the latter costs most and is, naturally, the best. Most recent innovation in water closet design is the one-piece unit which can be placed away from a wall for cleaning ease.

Modern washbasins offer the maximum amount of usable space. The best ones have a large amount of flat space or built - in shelves. Like bathtubs, washbasins vary greatly in style and size, one of the more popular being D-shaped. Some basins are wall - hung, others have glass or chronium - plated legs.

Basins most preferred today have two valves — for hot and cold water — and one spout to permit tempering of water. The better faucets have light, finger-tip control action and improved valve mechanism for greater durability and precision. Good quality valves are well worth the slight extra price.

Designers have overhauled bathroom accessories, too. One convenient safety feature is the bathtub grab - bar to aid bathers out of the tub.

Medicine cabinets have grown up. One of the newest is the illuminated wing cabinet, which boasts indirect lighting concealed behind each wing in such a way that light shines through frosted portions of the wing mirrors. It gives perfect illumination from all angles.

The finest cabinets are made of seamless porcelain or seamless baked enamel trimmed with chronium - plated brass and have mirrored doors, according to the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

MPS Is Expecting Request to Examine City's Rail Crossings

ST. LOUIS, (AP) — The Missouri Public Service Commission is scheduled to be asked today to make an immediate, on-the-spot safety check of all railroad grade crossings in St. Louis.

Circuit Attorney Edward L. Dowd said last night the request will be accompanied by a formal complaint, signed by Robert M. Guion, foreman of a circuit court grand jury investigating conditions at crossings.

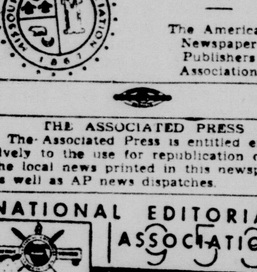

Guion said, "the grand jury considers the situation serious and feels that something must be done to fix the responsibility so that conditions can be corrected."

The investigation was started at Dowd's request after an accident in which a motorist was killed at one crossing here last May 30.

Deer Inspects City, Then Quickly Vanishes

Where did that doe go? But the $64 question is, where did it come from?

It was about 9 o'clock Thursday morning that residents in the vicinity of 20th at Prospect and Quincy saw a deer wandering around the neighborhood, first sauntering about the houses and then down the alley between Prospect and Quincy. They watched it go to Grand, and then two boys on bicycles started chasing it south on the blacktop.

Where the young doe came from the neighbors can't imagine, but it was really looking the town over.

Bob Thomas In Hollywood---

Realism Is Goal of Screen Story of Composer Whiting

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Here's one song writer whose film biography will be the real McCoy—Richard Whiting.

Or so says songstress Margaret Whiting, the late composer's daughter. In discussing plans to film his life story, she said the picture would avoid the pitfalls of other musical biographies.

"None of them has been true to life," she remarked. "None has presented the real picture of what the song writers were like. I know, because I knew them all through my father."

The Gus Kahn biography, "I'll See You in My Dreams," failed to capture his humorous nature, she said, even though comic Danny Thomas played the role. Nor did "Words and Music" do right by Richard Rodgers and Larry Hart, she added.

"Larry was a wonderful character who would help newcomers with their careers," she commented. "But in the picture he was played as just another Mickey Rooney role."

She claimed that the Bert Kalmar and Harry Ruby biog, "Three Little Words," misfired and so did the Jerome Kern epic, "Till the Clouds Roll By." As for the picture of George Gershwin in "Rhapsody in Blue"—"they didn't show him as he was, a man with driving ambition; instead, they threw in some romances that never happened."

Perhaps the most fanciful was the Cole Porter film, "Night and Day." The composer was born a millionaire and made many millions more. The studio was hard put to inject conflict in his story.

"And nobody can tell me that Cole Porter wrote 'Night and Day' in a tent," Miss Whiting added.

She is now helping screen writers with the script of her father's life. She said they will stick to the facts.

"So many dramatic things happened in his life that we don't have to fabricate," she commented. "He liked to keep the common touch. Even after he had written songs that sold millions, he still played the piano in his publisher's office in Detroit. One day a young fellow came into the office looking for encouragement. My father liked his songs and helped him get ahead. The fellow's name was George Gershwin.

"Another story—My father had written a song with another writer but he was unhappy with it. He threw it away. A secretary picked it out of the waste basket and entered it in a song contest held by one of the big Detroit theaters. It won the prize and people started a buying spree which sold more sheet fusic than any other song including 'Stardust' and 'The Lord's Prayer'."

The story has a good romance too, she said. Her father originally fell for her Aunt Margaret, a singer. He was expecting to meet her at a train, but the singer's sister stepped off instead. That started his life-long romance.

The script, which is now called "My Ideal," will be directed by Roy Rowland, and talks are now under way for a deal with Warner Brothers. It would be a musical feast, since Whiting penned such songs as "Beyond the Blue Horizon," "Louise," "Sleepy Time Gal," "Too Marvelous for Words," "Honey," "Japanese Sandman" and "Aint We Got Fun?"

Present plans call for Margaret to play her Aunt Margaret—the one who sang—and her sister Barbara to portray the composer's wife. Sound confusing? That isn't all.

The Whitings also plan a TV film show in which Margaret and Barbara will play themselves. It will be the story of their own lives, and their mother and Aunt Margaret will also be portrayed.

Roy L. Brown Attends Welding Clinic In Ohio

Roy L. Brown, of Brown's Automotive Supply Company, dealer for the Lincoln Electric Company, manufacturer of arc welding equipment, returned today from Cleveland where he spent a week in an intensive training course to learn the latest welding developments and how to conduct welding clinics to teach them.

Brown cited new hardsurfacing materials as one new development of special interest. "Machinery would never wear out," he said, "if you were always able to put hardsurfacing metal at the right place at the right time."

Brown said he went to the Cleveland course to be able to serve better the welding needs of this area in making and maintaining machinery that is vital to production in both farming and industry.

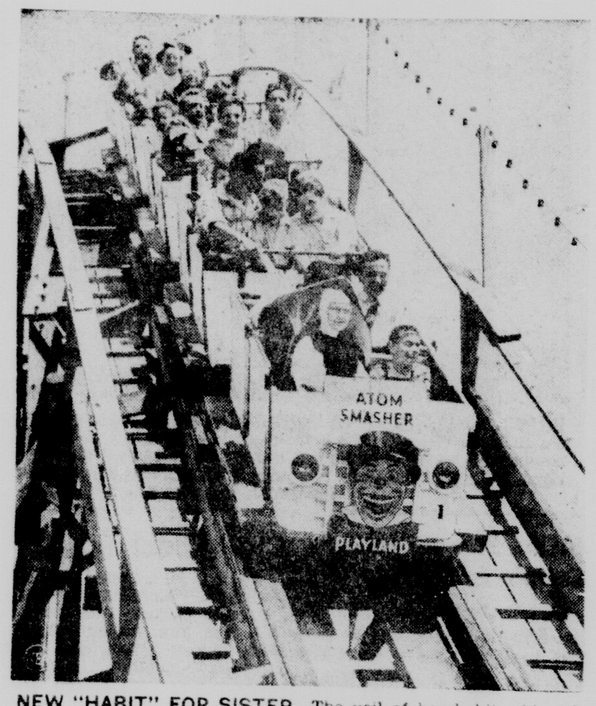

The course included, in addition to new welding developments, training in all types of welding operations and other uses for welding equipment such as soldering brazing, cutting, gouging and hardsurfacing. New machines and electrodes were studied along with new service methods for trouble shooting.

Special emphasis was put on how to conduct welding schools, several of which Brown plans to have in this area.

Serenaders Demand Higher Prices, But Custom Goes On

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The price of music has gone up, but the fine old romantic custom of serenading keeps on.

The strolling street musicians now demand 10 pesos—$1.25—per song. Whether they get it depends on just how long the prospective audience has been celebrating.

Before World War II the standard price was 1 peso, then 21 cents U. S. During the war it went up to 1 peso per song for each man in the group. This might range from two men, guitar and violin, to 10 or 12 including a marimba player. Now it is up again.

But the higher prices have not halted the early morning serenade to a sweetheart. Permanent residents can count on being awakened around 2 a. m. at least three or four times a year for an hour of music. If you have a lot of pretty girls in your block, you'll hear even more.

For some reason, you don't get mad when awakened by serenaders. For one thing, the music is good, soothing and not too loud. It blends into a doze very nicely.

The protocol of being serenaded is strict and seldom violated.

The girl never appears at her window. On the other hand, she must get up and pull back the curtain, keeping well back in the shadows. The movement of the curtain shows she is at home and appreciating the music. The sponsor stands out in the street under a light so she can be sure who gets credit for the serenade.

Wants to Have Ike Explain Book Burning

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) said today President Eisenhower "in fairness" ought to clarify his declaration that the State Department has his permission to burn books containing downright Communist propaganda.

Eisenhower made the statement at a news conference yesterday and, when asked, declined to say whether his gibe at "book burners," in a speech at Dartmouth College Sunday, was aimed at Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis). Eisenhower's reply was that he never deals in personalities.

McCarthy, who said he was sure he was not the target of Eisenhower's remark, said after the news conference:

"I think he has given a commendable clarification of the Dartmouth speech, which apparently has been misunderstood by many newsmen."

McCarthy amended the comment later to "misunderstood by many persons."

The President's denunciation of "book burners" had been interpreted widely as aimed at McCarthy's successful fight to remove from U. S. overseas libraries what the senator contends are "30,000 Communist books" by some 200 authors.

McCarthy said he doubted the Dartmouth speech could apply to him because "I have burned no books," and, since "it has been the President's own administration that has ordered the book burning," Eisenhower could order it stopped.

Jackson, in a separate interview, said:

"President Eisenhower in fairness to all concerned ought to state specifically what he did have in mind. This controversy over book burning has such tremendous public importance the President and Secretary of State Dulles should leave no ground for misunderstanding of their policy."

Jackson said he intends to write to Dulles "at once" demanding that he make public the whole list of books banned from U. S. information libraries abroad.

"As I understand it," Jackson said, "the test isn't what's in the printed words of the books, but in who authored them. But this never has been made exactly clear."

Eisenhower said at the news conference he did not advocate in Sunday's speech the use of public funds to distribute books which try to propagandize readers into joining the Communists.

If the State Department is burning books which make such open appeals, he added, it can go ahead and burn them.

Eisenhower said the U. S. must encourage a very wide freedom of discussion and in general should keep in its libraries abroad the same books carried on library shelves at home.

But he said it would be the height of silliness to expect this country to follow a policy which would make it a party to its own destruction.

Five Texans Hunt Treasure Near Gnarled Old Pecan Tree

ENNIS, Tex. (AP)—Thirty-five feet southwest of a gnarled old pecan tree, four men are digging with picks and shovels on Ernest Raphael's pasture in hopes they will find an iron chest buried 12 feet down containing gold bars worth 35 million dollars.

They have reached between 6½ and 7 feet.

As they dig in 100-degree heat, a fifth man sits nearby in a car studying a map he won't show anyone.

There is a legend that 3,000 pounds of gold bars are buried on Raphael's farm. Legend says the gold was mined near a mission at Santa Fe, N. M., and, in 1820, was dispatched to Galveston, Tex., to be shipped as a gift to the King of Spain. The gold was supposedly buried near this central Texas town when Indians pursued the caravan.

Raphael has heard the legend since his childhood. When the men approached him early this week, he gave them permission to excavate.

The four digging are from Ennis. The man with the map is a stranger. None was available for comment tonight. And nobody seems to know their names.

"They have an old map but they won't show it to me," Raphael said. "They say it was handed down from one of their ancestors."

"I don't think they'll find anything," Raphael said. "My wife thinks I'm kind of goofy to let them tear up my pasture."

But Raphael admitted he has signed an agreement—with a red-lead pencil on a piece of scratch paper—by which he'll get half of any treasure found.

Sen. Knowland Picks Up Bat For Boss Taft

WASHINGTON (AP)—A pinch hitter who swings from either side of the plate has stepped up to replace ailing Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio temporarily as captain of the Republican team in the Senate.

Sen. William F. Knowland of California, a stern-minded, foghorn-voiced advocate of get-tough-with-Russia policies in the Pacific, is one of the arriving young men of the Republican party.

When Taft finally gave in to his doctors' advice that a bone lesion in his hip would not permit him to continue galloping about his business as majority leader, the Ohio senator picked his 44-year-old California colleague as his substitute.

Knowland thus stepped into the cleanup spot. But Coach Taft likely will continue calling most of the signals from the bench.

This bothers Knowland not one whit. It is seldom these days that he and Taft disagree on any important signal.

There will be no change in policies," Knowland said in an interview. "There is quite a bit of running around to do as majority leader, and that is what I am going to do for Taft while he is recovering."

Sees Boost In Rates On Parcel Post During This Congress Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland of California, the acting Republican leader, says a proposa to boost postal rates generally is "a probability" for action this session.

Postmaster General Summerfiled working out final details of the administration bill, refused to divulge its contents.

It has been reported the plan would raise the price on out-of-town letters from 3 to 4 cents an ounce, on domestic air mail from 6 to 7 cents, and authorize substantial increases in postage for most newspapers, magazines and packages.

Opposition is anticipated on both sides of the Capitol.

Some of the giant tank ships that carry crude oil and petroleum products will hold as much as 10,000,000 gallons.

Keating Goes For a Ruling On Tom Clark

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Keating (R-NY) goes before the House Judiciary Committee today for a ruling on whether congressional probers can force Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark to testify.

Clark yesterday turned down an invitation to appear before Keating's judiciary subcommittee. Such an appearance would involve the Supreme Court's independence, Clark said, adding that a justice must avoid "the strife of public affairs and partisan politics."

But Keating, in a statement after Clark's letter to him was made public by other sources, said he saw no question involving the prerogatives of the branches of government.

Rep. Hillings (R-Calif), a subcommittee member, called Clark's refusal "unfortunate" and said the group will meet in closed session late today to decide whether to subpoena Clark.

Hillings' comment came before Keating said he wanted it "authoritatively" settled whether a committee of Congress has the right to call a judge before it. Keating added:

"The matters upon which the committee desires to interrogate Justice Clark have no relation whatever to his judicial duties."

Keating's subcommittee has been investigating the Justice Department, which Clark headed as attorney general from 1945 until he was named to the Supreme Court by former President Truman in 1949.

From time to time, the subcommittee has raised questions about Clark's actions as attorney general in tax and other cases.

"The subcommittee should agree," Clark wrote Keating, "that the courts must be kept free from public controversy. . . . I must forego my personal inclination to appear before your subcommittee."

Clark said that, of seven cases investigated by the committee, three were subjects of committee probes by the 80th Congress. In each of these three, he said, his actions were found to be in the Peyton Ford, deputy attorney general under Clark, told the subcommittee under oath yesterday no such agreement existed to his knowledge. But he said attorneys for the physician, Dr. Olaf Olson, might have thought they had an agreement through a misunderstanding.

Ford said Victor Anderson, U. S attorney at Minneapolis in 1947, recommended dropping criminal prosecution and settling the Olson case administratively. Ford said Clark's explanation of a department policy, against compromising tax cases while criminal charges were pending, was conveyed to Anderson.

The version Anderson got was that the department could not consider settlement of the tax claim "until there was a plea to one count of the indictment," Ford said, adding:

"I can see that it might be construed . . . as an agreement."

T. Lamar Caudle, ousted by Truman as assistant attorney general, had testified Sen. Langer (R-ND) reported the settlement was agreed upon after conferences Langer had with Ford and Clark.

Ford agreed with Caudle that the settlement—after Olson pleaded guilty to the criminal charge and was fined $10,000 and given a suspended one-year prison sentence—was "unusual." But Ford expressed the belief the government "got good results."

Says He Heard Red Brag He'd Kill McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP) —A former FBI undercover agent testified today he heard a Communist boast last December that he had been picked by Communist leaders to kill Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

The testimony came from Joseph D. Mazzei of Pittsburgh, who said the man who made the boast was Lou Bortz of Pittsburgh.

Bortz, called to the witness stand of Senate investigators, did not deny the story.

After some preliminary questioning, Sen. Mundt (R-SD) asked him directly: "Were you assigned the duty of killing Sen. McCarthy?"

Bortz refused to answer because, he said, an answer might tend to incriminate him.

Bortz was seated among the spectators when Mazzei gave his testimony. Once he was sworn, he was asked whether he knew Mazzei.

Bortz, who gave his address as Butler, Pa., refused to say on the ground that his answer might tend to incriminate him.

On the same ground, he refused to say whether he is or has been a member of the Communist party.

Bortz said he now is unemployed, but that since finishing junior high school in Brooklyn in 1925 he had held a variety of jobs—in a laundry, in a shoe factory and at gas service stations.

Mazzei testified at a hearing by the Senate Investigations subcommittee. McCarthy heads this group but had arranged for Sen. Mundt (R-SD) to preside.

Mundt asked Mazzei whether Bortz meant "a political liquidation or a physical liquidation" of McCarthy.

"To kill him," Mazzei said.

McCarthy sat quietly at the court-like bench in the hearing room as Mazzei told his story.

Mazzei said he was an undercover agent for the FBI from 1951 until last March 26.

Mazzei said he was an FBI counter spy, posing as a Communist, when he attended a secret meeting in Pittsburgh at which Bortz announced that "he was selected by the Communist party to do a job in the liquidation of Sen. Joseph McCarthy."

Uncovers 90-Year-Old Loyalty Oath Asked Of St. Louis Teachers

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A 90-year-old loyalty oath required of St. Louis public school teachers and board of education officers, was uncovered accidentally today.

The oath was intended to "prevent the dissemination of disloyal sentiments through the public schools" at a time when Missouri was a Civil War battle ground.

Applicants for teaching jobs—were 162 instructors in the school system—were required to pledge they would not give "aid and comfort" to enemies of the Union. They also were warned against joining activities of "secret organizations."

The oath, found in the 1864 annual report of the superintendent of schools, was discovered by Miss Elizabeth Golterman, director of the school system's division of audio-visual education. Miss Golterman was doing research on a student rally to raise military funds in 1864.

Blames Busy Schedule For Failure to File Income Tax Return

ST. LOUIS (AP) —A St. Louis accountant, hoping to explain his failure to file a 1946 income tax return, told a federal jury here yesterday he was so busy making reports for clients he forgot to file his own.

Marion L. Langenberg testified the March 15 deadline slipped past before he knew it in 1947. He said he was so busy he was working 70 hours a week despite the fact he was "in bad shape" because of ill health.

Federal Judge George H. Moore interrupted Langenberg during his testimony, clearing the jury from the courtroom to remind Langenberg he was under oath as he blamed a mental lapse for his failure to file the tax return.

Langenberg is charged with evading $1,665 in taxes. The government stated he received $13,340 in fees in 1946 but reported only $5,540.

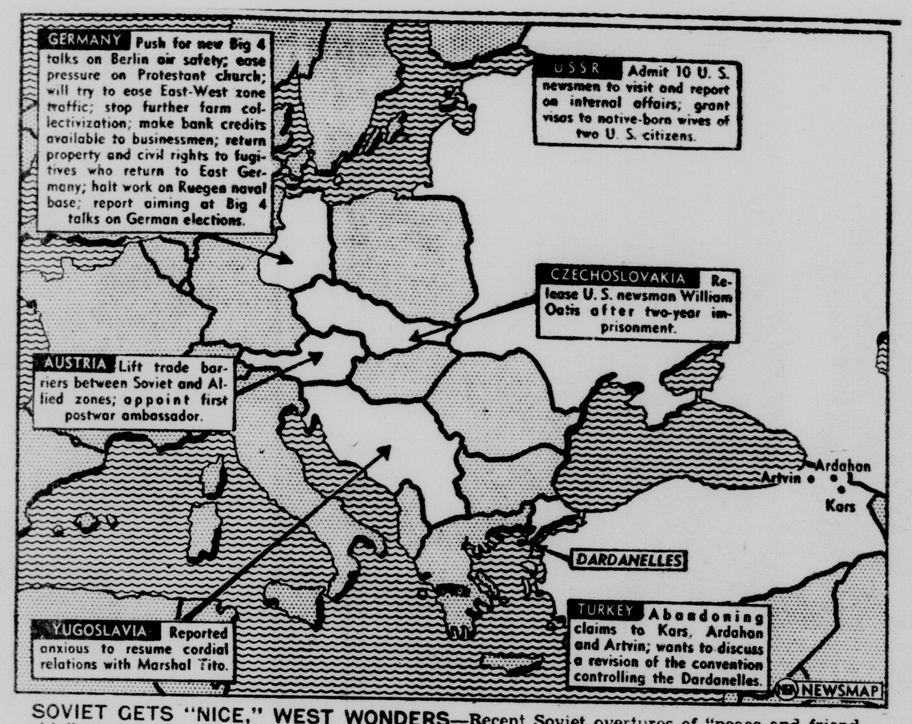

Soft Drink Plants Resume Operation After Wage Agreement

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Most of St. Louis' soft drink bottling plants were back in operation today under a new agreement with the AFL Teamsters Union.

Henry Kelso, president of the Missouri Bottlers Association, said all but four of the association's 18 plants which had been closed by teamster pickets, have resumed operation.

The pickets appeared shortly after the plants had signed a wage agreement ending a CIO bottlers' strike last week.

Kelso said the agreement with the Teamsters Union provides for a 17½-cent-a-case commission for truck drivers, with guarantees of $70 and $80 a week.

SOVIET GETS "NICE," WEST WONDERS—Recent Soviet overtures of "peace and friendship" toward some European nations may cause you to scratch your head, but government diplomats see a definite pattern in it and it is neither "peaceful" or "friendly" in intent. They see the tactical moves designed to create a feeling of well-being among the European people, with the hope of undermining Western unity against Communist aggression. Above Newsmap shows where the Soviet Union made the unprecedented gestures. It is feared that the new peaceful approach may be more effective than the bluster and hostility of the Stalin regime.

Bill Permits Gas Storage Underground

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A bill clearing the way for underground storage of gas in Missouri was signed by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly today.

It was sought primiarly by LaClede Gas Company of St. Louis, which plans underground storage in St. Louis County, but would also apply to other utilities in the state.

Other states have similar laws but Donnelly said the Missouri law will provide more safeguards for property owners than the laws of other states.

It permits utilities to condemn land for underground storage only after they have received permission from the state Public Service Commission. No gas may be stored less than 500 feet below the surface and no water bearing, oil bearing or mineral bearing strata may be taken.

No houses or other buildings may be condemned.

Yesterday the governor signed a bill to make the hand and arm signals of Missouri drivers the samd as those in other states after Aug. 29.

The legislation represents a victory for a traffic safety groups and others who have tried for years to get a uniform "rules of the road" law in Missouri.

At present, a drive turning right puts his left hand up, to stop he puts it straight out and to turn left he extends it down. Under the new system, right turn will still be up but straight out will mean left turn and down will mean stop.

New trucks and trailers sold after next Jan. 1 must be equipped with automatic signalling devices but this provision does not apply to ordinary passenger cars where the driver can make his hand signals visible to the drivers behind him.

Other bills signed will:

Give the State Department of Agriculture broad powers—including quarantine powers—to stop rabies epidemics such as have raced through parts of Southwestern Missouri recently.

Set up a state veterinary board of four veterinarians to examine and license applicants to practice veterinary medicine.

Ike Discusses POW Release With Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today discussed with Congress members the South Korean government's release of thousands of anti-Communist prisoners of war.

Eisenhower had breakfast at the White House with members of a Senate Appropriations subcommittee who have just returned from the Far East.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH), who joined the White House group, told newsmen afterwards that the senators and Eisenhower "discussed the seriousness of the situation," alluding to release of the prisoners.

Asked whether Eisenhower himself regarded the situation as serious, Bridges replied:

"I couldn't say how he feels. I think it is a serious thing."

Asked then whether the President had treated the situation lightly, Bridges said: "Oh no."

A reporter asked Bridges whether Eisenhower had expressed any feeling that release of the prisoners might jeopardize an armistice in Korea.

"He didn't say," Bridges declared. "We just discussed the seriousness of the thing as another angle complicating the situation."

It was plain that the action of South Korean President Syngman Rhee in releasing the anti-Communist prisoners was a startling upset to officials here. The official hope had been that at the last minute Rhee would cooperate in carrying out truce terms.

Atom Bomb's Effect On Public Utilities Outlined for Kiwanis

Facts about the atom bomb, and the effect it has and may have on public utilities and the people they serve, were outlined in an interesting talk by James Allen, Missouri Public Service Company, Warrensburg, speaking before the Sedalia Kiwanis Club in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

The speaker was introduced by Victor Scott, program chairman.

William Ward, president, announced there would not be a meeting of the board of directors scheduled for Friday.

J. C. Griffin had as his guest, Raymond Rollins, assistant treasurer, Missouri Public Service Co., Warrensburg.

Gasoline Price May Go Up; Phillips Pays More for Oil

HOUSTON (AP) — You may soon be paying a penny more a gallon for gasoline for your car.

The added cent would be the industry's way of passing on to you the higher prices it began paying this week for crude oil in the field.

Phillips Petroleum Company started the crude oil price increases Monday by announcing it would pay 25 cents a barrel more. Other crude oil buyers have been falling in line, some with boosts even up to 35 cents a barrel, all week.

Those increases are for prices which the big oil companies pay for the crude oil which they then ship to their refineries. The crude is broken down into gasoline, kerosene, Diesel fuel, motor oil and other products.

Yesterday came the first indication of how much of the increase will be passed on to the motorist at his service station. The Continental Oil Company, one of the largest petroleum marketers, was the first to increase prices of the refined products.

Continental posted tankwagon and cargo increases of about one cent a gallon on gasolines, one half to oe cent on kerosene, a half cent on heating oils and 24 cents a barrel on residual fuel oils.

Tankwagon prices are wholesale prices. The penny advance of Continental is in ratio with historic market changes—for each 25 cents per barrel increase in crude, gasoline goes up a penny a gallon.

But refiners and marketers have long complained of a squeeze from rising operating costs. Until the Continental announcement, there was speculation that the retail boost would exceed a cent a gallon.

Because Continental is one of the larger petroleum marketers, its new price schedule may set the pattern. Although more or less uniform retail price increases are expected, retail gasoline prices will still vary greatly from state to state. That's because of the difference in amounts of state taxes.

In Dallas, application of the cent a gallon increase will mean 26 to 26½ cents a gallon for regular and 28 to 28½ cents for peremium gasoline.

Continental supplies service stations and commercial consumers in Oklahoma, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, New Mexico and Colorado. It sells bulk tankcar and tankship cargoes in much of the rest of the nation.

Latest crude buyers to boost prices they pay for crude were Texas Company, Shell Oil Company, Magnolia Petroleum Company, Atlantic Refining Company Sun Oil Company, Sinclair and Esso Standard.

House Ponders Foreign Aid Bill for 1954

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House goes to work today on a controversial $4,998,732,500 foreign aid bill for next year, and Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R-Wis) said cuts of another one billion dollars will be proposed.

The measure now carries 476 million dollars less than President Eisenhower urged Congress to accept as an "honest" minimum. It is $2,602,000,000 less than recommended by former President Truman.

Voting on proposals for deeper cuts may start tomorrow. The bill is only a ceiling for the year starting July 1. Actual appropriations will come up later.

A fight is likely also on an administration-opposed amendment to withhold more than one billion dollars of military aid to Europe until an international army is approved.

Smith said in an interview a four-member minority of the House Foreign Affairs Committee will propose cuts totaling one billion dollars, which they say will not impair the program.

Smith said the group will propose knocking out planned military aid to Japan and Spain, reducing global Point Four programs of technical aid, eliminating 100 million dollars each for economic aid to France and for research on special nonatomic weapons.

The group also will try to persuade Congress to postpone consideration of the actual appropriations until next year, because of "unsettled world conditions," Smith added. He said the administration has ample money to carry on the program in the meantime.

Rep. Richards of South Carolina, senior Democrat on the foreign affairs committee, said he expects bipartisan support for his proposal to earmark half of European military aid solely to the European Defense Community.

The EDC would permit rearming West Germany and taking its troops into a six-nation international army. Only West Germany has ratified the treaty.

The bill, which would shift new emphasis to the Far East, contains the first provisions for rearming Japan, under a bilateral treaty the administration proposes to conclude with Tokyo.

them freed on Rhee's command.

Brig. Gen. Lionel McGarr of the Prisoner of War Command said most of the South Korean officers in the camps up to and including colonels had disappeared with the prisoners.

High South Korean officials urged the people to feed, house and shelter the prisoners.

As the news became known, the U. S. Eighth Army canceled all leaves for Allied troops.

The problem of rounding up the prisoners appeared almost impossible—many were South Koreans who had been impressed into the North Korean army. All could join the mass of other South Koreans unmarked by language or physical differences.

The U. N. Command was relying almost entirely on radio broadcasts asking the prisoners to return, even as South Korea's Radio Pusan broadcast Rhee's message urging civilians to house and feed them.

The U. N. broadcasts told the prisoners they had made a mistake in leaving the prison camps. They promised no reprisals and assured the prisoners they would be set free after an armistice is signed.

Meanwhile, Maj. Gen. Thomas W. Harran, U. S. commander of POW camps, conferred with Gen. Sun Yup Paik, South Korean Army chief of staff, without reaching any solution.

From Allied soldiers at U. N. headquarters in Tokyo there was a strong undercurrent of resentment against Rhee and his followers.

PFC Bill Nadolske of Akron, O., said: "We gave him everything. We do everything for him and now he turns around and kicks us in the teeth."

Before the mass escape, the U. N. held just under 125,000 prisoners.

Nearly 47,000 of them refused to go back. The 25,000 who escaped were among the 47,000.

Rhee went into closed session with his Cabinet.

Douglas Says His Order Was Matter Of Legal Routine

WASHINGTON (AP) —Supreme Court Justice Douglas said today his decision ordering a stay of the execution of atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, far from being unprecedented, was a matter of legal routine.

Douglas who flew back to Washington for a special court session on his order, told reporters it is perfectly normal for any Supreme Court justice to stay an execution when he is presented "substantial new questions that have never been decided."

Douglas had headed west by auto when he heard the special meeting had been called to review his action.

He joshed with photographers but had a stern "No comment" on a move by Rep. Wheeler (D-Ga) to impeach him.

Douglas said there probably is half a dozen cases a year in which executions are postponed by a single justice because he believes new questions have been brought into the case.

ROKs Hang On To Two Posts In Hot Fight

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean troops, fighting viciously, lost and then won back two frontline positions on the East-Central Front today.

Four hundred Chinese pushed the ROKs off steep, high M-1 Ridge, near Christmas Hill at 6 a. m. but the ROKs banged back and retook the height about noon. It has been the scene of bloody fighting the past few days.

Another 400 Chinese battled hand to hand with South Korean troops at a frontline position south of Finger Ridge in midmorning, finally pushing the ROKs back. A few hours later the doughty South Koreans won back the position in more close-range battling.

In the air, U. S. Sabre pilots destroyed four MIGs and damaged four others in jet battles that ranged down to tree-top height along the Yalu River in far Northwest Korea.

Meanwhile, an Eighth Army officer said latest figures showed 120 Chinese killed and 480 wounded early Tuesday in two unsuccessful 2,000-man attacks at Outpost Harry on the Central Front.

Allied casualties were comparatively very low, he said.

Greek troops threw back a sharp strike at Outpost Harry Thursday.

The Red jab at Outpost Harry on the Central Front ended a short-lived lull across the 155-mile battlefront—a lull which appeared timed to agreement at Panmunjom on a battlefront demarcation line.

The stubborn Greek defenders threw back 3,000 Chinese and North Korean Reds in an hours-long, hand - to - hand battle on Outpost Harry.

In other ground action, Allied artillery chopped up 1,500 Red reinforcements attempting to move toward Communist - held Finger Ridge Wednesday night.

The Outpost Harry action began at 12:35 a. m. Thursday when an estimated 1,000 Reds scrambled up the slippery slopes after a heavy mortar and artillery barrage.

Roaring Allied guns down a curtain of fire against the enemy. Only 40 of the Reds broke through to reach the defenders while the remainder fell back with heavy casualties.

The Communists withdrew at 1:40 a. m. and appeared to regroup near Star Hill a short distance away. Smoke shells from enemy guns blanketed the northern portion of Outpost Harry and Red mortar and artillery poured in again.

Two thousand Chinese, laden with grenades, burp guns and rifles, plunged up the muddy slopes again at 2:45 a. m. and poured into the trenches of Outpost Harry.

The fighting continued until 4:20 a. m. when the Reds were beaten off, the Army said. Spasmodic firing continued along the line.

Maj. James W. Jabara of Wichita, Kan., first jet ace of the Korean War, shot down his 12th MIG in Thursday's air battles.

Capt. Ralph Parr of Apple Valley, Calif., shot down two MIGs, his fourth and fifth. It made him the 33rd Korean jet ace.

Wins Governor Race In Upset Write-In Vote

WARRENSBURG (AP) — A country boy today won over what he called the "city machine boys" in an upset election for governor of Missouri Boys' State.

The victor in the unprecedented write-in victory was Bruce W. Campbell, 17, Route 5, St. Joseph, a senior at Benton high school.

Nominees for the post were Ralph W. Varnum, Federalist, and David Morton, Nationalist, both of Kansas City.

In the wind-up of the campaign Campbell launched a write-in movement based on turning back the "Kansas City machine." He asked if there weren't other boys from Missouri capable of handling the job.

Kansas City's Southwest high had furnished the governor for the past two years. Varnum also is from Southwest high.

Campbell's arguments hit fertile ground. When the votes were counted he had 188 votes, Varnum 163 and Morton 115.

Boys State, attended by 475 high school youths from throughout Missouri, is sponsored by the American Legion as a project in practical democracy.

James O. Harrin, Kansas City, one of five Negroes attending the state sessions, was elected secretary of state.

Other officers elected were:

Lieutenant governor: Robert Kiddoo, Joplin; auditor, Forest Nichols, Nevada; treasurer Michael Oshry, Kansas City; attorney general, Charles R. Gibson, Independence.

Garry L. Pigg, Joplin, was named chief justice of the supreme court by virtue of obtaining the most votes. Other judges elected were: Larry Jenkins, Sikeston; Louis Eckstein, Kansas City; Stan Weiner, Kansas City; Jack McIntyre, St. Louis; Stan Burnstein, Kansas City, and Galen F. Hart, Urich.

Switzerland May Retract Truce Service

BERNE, Switzerland (AP) — Swiss Foreign Minister Max Petitpierre said today that "new difficulties" in Korea may lead Switzerland to reconsider her willingness to serve on the projected neutral commissions to supervise a truce in the war-torn peninsula.

Petitpierre told the upper house of the Swiss Parliament the release of anti-Communist North Korean prisoners of war by South Korean officials "considerably changes the situation."

Only last week, the Swiss government reversed a previous stand and said it would serve on the Korean armistice and POW commissions regardless of whether South Korea accepted the armistice terms now being hammered out by representatives of the Communists and the U. N.

Petitpierre today said Switzerland had agreed to serve on the understanding that all war prisoners in South Korea were under complete control of the U. N. Command.

History and Growth of Town and Country Related for Lions by Mrs. Everett White

Mrs. Everett White, office manager for Town and Country Shoe Co., was the speaker at the noonday meeting of the Sedalia Lions Club Wednesday and she used as her subject "What Town and Country Means to Sedalia." She also gave a brief sketch of the manufacturing of shoes and the growth of the concern.

"May 3, 1943, a corporation was formed, known as Town and Country," she started her talk. "We took over the building which had been built for Sedco shoe company, and since that time have expanded and expanded and have plans for the future," Mrs. White said.

She stressed the fact had there not been a building in Sedalia, Town and Country might never have come here. (The building she referred to was built on a similar plan as endeavors are now being made to build a new factory for the National Manufacturing and Engineering Co., which is moving here from Kansas City.)

Mrs. White told of the steady growth of Town and Country from its small factory to enlargement of the present building, the building of a branch factory in Warrensburg, then in Odessa and now in Slater. She brought out that Sedalia is the central plant, and has since added another building at Main and Missouri. "The future holds for us further expansion," she said, but she did not divulge any information regarding this expansion.

Mrs. White did say that W. Neal Boss, representative of the Mobbs Co., Ltd., shoe manufacturers of Port Elzabeth, South Africa, had asked permission of Town and Country to manufcture T and C shoes in their plant, which will place the firm into international operation.

She gave this point as an example of how well known the Town and Country merchandise is, how it is being accepted throughout the world and taking its place among the better known manufactured shoes now on the market.

In her talk she gave a history of the plant from its start here in manufacturing a non-rationed shoe during World War II, which gained popularity among the women, especially when they didn't have to give up their "shoe stamp" for a pair of shoes. As soon as better materials were available in the leather lines, Town and Country went into the better type of shoes which are now among the top leaders in this country.

She also pointed out Town and Country is not an "Eastern concern" as some would believe. "Most of our executives," especially those in production, reside in Sedalia and own their own homes here. Virgil Lipscomb, president and in charge of sales promotion, resides in St. Louis, while the executives of the sales force reside in St. Louis and New York. C. W. Mathieson, vice-president in charge of operations, moved to Sedalia in 1943 and owns his own home on West Broadway. It is well to note, those of us who make our homes here also take an active part in community and civic affairs," Mrs. White said.

In closing her talk, she reported the Sedalia Town and Country plant had an annual payroll for 1952 with an average of 410 employees of $1,218,960; for the Warrensburg plant, $800,734; and at Odessa of $711,247.

Mrs. White, a former school teacher, went with Town and Country on May 17, 1943, four days after the firm was incorporated, and has seen its growth day by day and year by year.

Mrs. White was introduced by James E. McNeal, program chairman.

Guests were: Neal Chapman of Town and Country, of McNeil; and Stewart Murray, manager of the 50 Highway Drive-In, of Dr. David Robinson.

E. B. Smith, president, announced the meeting of the old board of directors will be held at noon on Monday at the Bothwell Hotel and the new board will beet Monday night at the hotel at 8 o'clock.

It was also announced the Lions Beauty Show, which was scheduled for the last of this month, has been postponed until later this fall at which time they plan a full evening's show.

Installation of the newely elected officers was announced for a night meeting to be held Wednesday, June 24, to be held in the Ambasador Room of the Bothwell Hotel with a buffet dinner.

AFL Officer Is Fired After Jury Indicts Him for Racketeering

ST. LOUIS (AP) — An AFL union official, indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of labor racketeering, has been fired from his union post.

Henry Schmidt, who had served as business agent for local 682, AFL Building Material and Construction Chauffeurs, was ousted yesterday by Thomas E. Flynn, international representative of the AFL Teamsters.

Schmidt was one of 14 union officers indicted by a grand jury here recently. His indictment, on charges of extorting $1,800 from two construction companies, was returned Tuesday.

Named in the indictment with Schmidt was Peter P. Higgins, Sr., who had been head of local 682. Flynn already had removed him from office.

Plans Are Dropped For Medical Office Building In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Plans for erection of a 5½ million dollar medical office building near St. Louis' hospital row were dropped yesterday when the city plan commission opposed the idea.

Construction of the proposed 25-story building in the Forest Park district called for a rezoning ordinance by the Board of Aldermen.

Sponsors of the project, Adolph H. and Samuel H. Rosenberg, are part owners of an apartment building now on the site. The property will be put up for sale.

The plan commission said there were already sufficient commercial sites in the area.

Court Is Asked To Reconsider Tax Affirmation

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Missouri Supreme Court was asked today to reconsider its affirmation of the St. Louis earnings tax a week ago.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs in the original case asked for a new hearing but the Supreme Court took no immediate action.

The case was started by two hardware company employes who charged the earnings tax was unconstitutional and illegal. The tax of one-half of one per cent on wages and commissions earned within the limits of Missouri's largest city brings the city between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000 a year.

In asking for the new hearing, the wage-earners argued that the Supreme Court was setting a dangerous precedent in declaring the local tax law was not unconstitutional.

Missouri's Legislature refused to extend the tax during the recent session and city officials have asked Gov. Phil M. Donnelly to call a special session so it can be considered once more. Donnelly has not said how he feels about a special session.

Texas Farmers Have Bumper Wheat Crop

DALLAS (AP)—Combine operator J. D. Russell says he is harvesting so much wheat for farmers this spring they don't know what to do with all their cash.

"I had to keep one of them from stopping cars on the highway and trying to loan the drivers money," Russell said with a twinkling smile.

The 43-year-old Dallas County farmer is cutting his neighbors' wheat before pushing north with the harvest. He says the wheat is the best he has ever seen. Some of it is yielding 50 bushels to the acre compared to a normal 10 or 20 bushels.

There is so much work to do getting in the tremendous crop that some harvesting crews are spending extra days here along the southern edge of the great continental wheat belt. Others are working now in Oklahoma and in the drought-damaged fields of the Texas Panhandle, one of the few sections of the nation where the crop is poor this year.

All summer, combine crews like Russell's will toil in the golden fields from Texas through Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas. September frost will catch them on the Canadian prairies at the end of their 1,800-mile trek.

They will harvest an estimated 1,132,500,000 bushels in the U. S. There is a carry-over of some 570 million bushels from last season. The total would give the U. S. an export and carry-over excess of a billion bushels, the greatest grain surplus in the history of any nation.

The nation's bountiful billion-bushel wheat crops have come about in the last 10 years, largely through the efforts of enterprising men like Russell. They have used their own capital to mechanize the mightiest harvest in history.

The young Texas farmer brought his first self-propelled combine to the Dallas County town of Lancaster in 1943. It sat on the town square where the curious could get a close look at it. Russell runs three of them now, with supporting trucks.

One of his combine drivers is his 14-year-old son Donald. The boy started handling the $6,000 machines in the Texas Panhandle when he was 13. Four harvest hands with trucks and a combine do the work that required a full crew of 24 men using a stationary threshing machine.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An alert policeman has averted the possibility of Garrison Harris being called as a prospective juror in his own grand theft case.

Patrolman P. B. Le Page noticed something familiar about one of the jurors yesterday when he visited a courtroom. It was Harris, who later admitted he is awaiting trial next Wednesday on the theft charge.

He was promptly ejected from the jury panel. The case on which he was sitting is continuing with 11 jurors.

Coast Guard Beaches Captain of a Log, Freighter Moves On LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The captain of a log doesn't have the rights accorded the captain of a freighter, Edward Gutman has discovered.

The captain of the freighter told the Coast Guard he had to bring his big ship to a halt in mid-channel between San Pedro and Terminal Island last night.

He said a log ridden by Gutman was blocking his way, and Gutman yelled, "I'm the captain of this log and I'm not going to get out of your way."

The Coast Guard sent a cutter. Gutman, 32, a transient, was arrested on a drunk count. His log was beached.

Resolution Is Headed For Congress Today To Impeach Douglas

WASHINGTON (AP) — A resolution to impeach Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas was headed on the path through Congress today, but on past records the odds were against much of anything happening.

On only 12 occasions has a court of impeachment been convened by Congress, and in U. S. history only four federal judges have ever been removed from office via the impeachment route.

Only one Supreme Court justice has ever been tried, and he was acquitted. This was Justice Samuel Chase, back in 1805.

Deliveries Will Start After Lumber Truckers Accept 20-Cent Boost

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Deliveries by St. Louis area lumber yards are scheduled to be resumed today following acceptance of a 20-cent hourly wage increase by striking AFL truck drivers yesterday.

The lumber yards agreement brought settlement of a 30-day strike, which has tied up about 27,000 workers in the building industry and tied up construction projects valued at about 75 million dollars, one step closer.

The area's 52 lumber yards employ 125 drivers.

A 20-cent hourly wage increase, from $1.62 to $1.82, retroactive to March 1, is included in the agreement to be included in a new two-year contract.

Thomas E. Flynn, international teamster representative, has expressed hope that the settlement might lead to agreements with the Home Builders Association, quarry operators and the ready mix material dealers.

The truck drivers earlier had reached a settlement with a fifth employer group, the Associated General Contractors.

Vandenberg's Nephew, Now Chief of Air Force, May Run for Senate

PEARSON Thursday June 18 —
WASHINGTON — Two years ago, silver-thatched Sen. Homer Ferguson, Republican of Michigan, literally begged Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg to run for the Senate against Sen. Blair Moody, Democrat.

He argued that, as the nephew of the late, much-loved Senator Vandenberg, General Vandenberg could easily be elected from Michigan.

The other day when the same General Vandenberg testified in defense of the Air Force, however, Ferguson seemed to have forgotten their former intimate conversation. For he was sharp and critical of the Air Force chief of staff.

Michigan politicos who noted his hostile cross-examination said, however, that Ferguson hadn't forgotten their previous conversation, but rather was fearful Vandenberg might heed his advice — two years late. If so, the general would run against none other than the man who gave him the advice —Senator Ferguson. That's why, they said, the senator was critical in his cross-examination.

Note — Vandenberg, who will soon retire from the Air Force, is much more likely to run for the senate now. However, his decision will depend largely on his health. If he decides to run, the Vandenberg name would be hard to beat in Michigan.

Manufacturers' Protest

When genial Secretary of the Interior Doug McKay said he had received only one complaint from industry regarding the handing of Bonneville Dam power over to the private utilities, he spoke a little too soon. Shortly after making his statement, a formal protest was registered by 12 manufacturing groups, including some of the biggest concerns in the nation.

Though strong believers in private enterprise, they went on record for continued distribution of government power by the government. They opposed turning government power over to the private utilities.

"Our companies," said the industrial group's statement, "have invested over $500,000,000 in the Pacific Northwest, and have provided this region with a new basis for its economy.

"The industrial customers of Bonneville Power Administration, as an organized group, voice most emphatic objection to a proposed power contract between the Bonneville Power Administration and Portland General Electric Co. It is understood that this contract would serve as a pattern for similar contracts with other private utilities.

"The proposed contract represents a departure from the historic policy of Bonneville Power Administration of encouraging the development of industry in the northwest by direct sale to industrial customers."

In protesting a recent Merry-Go Round column, Secretary McKay flatly stated that: "The privately owned public utilities will have no right to decide who gets any of the power generated at any of the federal dams, except that which each of them individually resells."

Veto Over Industry

However, the big industrial concerns differed with Secretary McKay and agreed with this writer.

"The proposed utility contract provides, under certain conditions," wrote the big manufacturers, "that Bonneville will not enter into agreement to supply firm power to an industrial customer without the consent of the private utility. The industrial customers of Bonneville Power Administration strongly believe it is contrary to the public interest to grant a veto right over the government's sale of its own power."

This practically paraphrased the Merry-Go-Round column to which Secretary McKay objected, and which stated: "It (the contract) gave private utilities the veto over whether Alcoa, Reynolds, Kaiser et al could expand their factories. If the utilities refused them power, they were out of luck."

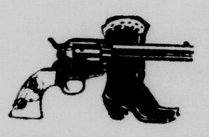

Note — The companies which signed this protest include the Aluminum Corporation of America, Reynolds Metals, Kaiser Aluminum, American Carborundum Co., Electro-Metallurgical Co., Pacific Carbide, and various others.

Washington Pipe-Line

The mild, damp winter has left the South's cotton crop infested with boll weevil. Only a prolonged hot, dry spell could kill off the pest and save the cotton from serious damage. . . . Moonshiners are moving down from the mountains into the cities where illegal stills are even harder to find. . . . The Swiss government has intervened in the negotiations over from war-seized German assets. Swiss authorities stepped in on the side of Interhandel, a Swiss holding company that is trying to regain control of the corporation. However, the State Department refuses to deal on a government-to-government basis. . . . The Navy has bought 300 copies of Bonner Feller's pro-Air Force book, "Wings For Victory," apparently to get tips on Army thinking. . . . The Canadian government has protested to Washington against the new standby import controls, designed to keep Canadian butter out of this country. Right now the agriculture department has butter running out its ears, does not want more from Canada. . . . A Capitol cop, Harold Fisher, did not expect to see his name in the paper when he found $240 in a telephone booth and went out of his way to return it to the owner. His honesty hit the headlines anyway. . . . Russia is frantically building pipelines and refineries at the Taimyr-Lena Basin in frozen, far-northern Siberia. At the same time, the U. S. government is closing down its oil explorations in northern Alaska in order to save money. . . . A Philadelphia firm is building giant, plastic truck trailers so tough an ordinary road collision won't dent them, but so light they cut down on weight and save gasoline.

Merry-Go-Round

New York Giants manager Leo Durocher can cite the Congressional Record next time he beefs against an umpire. Congressman "Billy" Matthews of Florida recently stated in the Record that he could not make the House Democratic baseball team because "I cannot see well enough to play." "But," Matthews added, "I think that qualifies me most admirably to be an umpire." . . . Air Sergeant Donald L. O'Toole, son of the former congressman from New York, has been awarded the Silver Cross for bravery in Korea. Young O'Toole comes nobly by his honors. In addition to his scrappy dad, his grandfather was a well-known fire chief in Brooklyn.

Massacre Mountains

by Frank C. Robertson

COPYRIGHT 1953 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Pete Morrison, a scout, and Nate Wilkinson, are searching for Betty, Nate's daughter, kidnaped years before. Betty may be the girl that the renegade Zad Barnes calls his daughter. Pete leaves Nate in hiding at a ranch and goes into Barnes' town of Two Rivers, where he learns that Barnes has sent Betty away to be married to Gabe Cox, one of Zad's men. Pete sends a note to Nate by Walter, an Indian boy, who knows where Betty was taken.

• • •

XI

PETE MORRISON deliberately turned his back on Zad Barnes as he arose, and saw Tobey flash Zad a look of inquiry. But the Indian didn't move.

"You know," Pete said. "It's a nice evening. I think I'll take a walk."

"Go right ahead," Barnes said. "Tobey will go with you."

Pete stepped outside ahead of the Indian. It was in his mind to walk out to the pasture where Felix grazed. The horse would come up to him, and he could be guided without bridle or rope. Knowing that his own life was forfeited whether Nate made his escape or not, Pete was determined to make a break for freedom. If that involved shooting Tobey, then it wasn't going to be easy. As soon as he started two more Indians joined Tobey, and they followed along about a rod behind him. All three Indians carried rifles, and had knives in their belts.

They would be glad to kill him, and they were restrained, no doubt, only because Barnes had not yet found the opportunity of disarming him without danger of some of his outfit getting hurt.

He had no difficulty walking up to Felix. He put his arm around the horse's neck, talked to him a little, then swung under the animal's neck to the other side. Momentarily, he had the horse between him and the three Indians, and he gripped his gun. In the gathering gloom he might be lucky enough to kill all three of them and escape, but the odds were heavily against him. He fought a silent battle with himself, then walked away from the horse and back toward the buildings.

So long as he had life and his gun there was always a chance, and a better opportunity than this might come up.

The Indians followed him back into the court, but didn't attempt to invade his room. He went inside and sat on the bed, suddenly aware that he was in a cold sweat. He was trapped. If he stepped out again he probably would run into a knife or a bullet, or if not his every step would be dogged. He knew that Zad Barnes must be enjoying tormenting him.

He knew that the adobe walls were probably between two and three feet thick. To dig through them in time would be well nigh impossible. But the partition walls were probably thinner. But here he had no means of knowing if either of the adjoining rooms were occupied.

• • •

ANYTHING was better than waiting. He made sure that the blanket over the window was in place, then removed one of the blankets from the wall and chose his point of attack.

He did little more than measure out enough space through which he could squeeze his body, then blew out the lamp he had lighted and went feverishly to work on the 'dobe slabs with his knife.

They were softer than bricks, but they had been sun-dried, and were tough. They yielded to his knife, but he had to stab hard, and risk breaking the blade every time he tried to pry out a chunk of the solidified mud. It was slow and painful progress, and he soon found himself drenched with sweat.

He persisted doggedly, hoping that the wall would not be more than two 'dobes thick, but that would mean 16 inches, and Pete was a large man, so the hole could not be small. And always there was the danger that when he did dig through he would find some other occupant in the next room.

He didn't dare strike a light to look at his watch, so he practically lost track of time, but he knew that he must have been digging for hours when his knife went all the way through, and stuck for a moment in what was undoubtedly a thick Navajo blanket on the other wall.

He waited a moment, and hearing no sound, redoubled his efforts. Once the hole was enlarged he was able to pry out several entire 'dobes. He could have kicked his way through faster, but that might have entailed waking up anyone who might be sleeping in the other room. He had taken care to work silently.

• • •

THEN, suddenly, just as he was about to try forcing his way through he heard voices. He went back to the door and listened. He heard a man swearing at a horse, and then the sound of wheels as a rig was driven away. A moment later he heard Zad Barnes' voice.

"You'll want something to eat, ma'am, before you go to bed. Come right in here, and I'll wake up the squaw and have her fix you something."

"That's awfully kind of you, Mr. Barnes," he heard a woman's voice in reply. It was a voice that he knew only too well. It belonged to Cass Dean!

She had come here deliberately to show Pete that he could not stop her doing what she wanted.

For a moment Pete couldn't move. The sweat that broke out on him then was not due to his labors. The fool, he thought, the crazy, headstrong little fool. Somehow or other she had managed to follow him here, and had thrust her pretty neck right under the ax.

He couldn't leave now without warning her against the kind of place she was in, and he couldn't leave without her if there was any possibility of making her go with him. But that, he knew, would be difficult, if not impossible.

Walk, Don't Phone, In Mount Vernon, Ohio

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio — In this city of 12,000 people only 110 telephones are operating. A month ago there were more than 8200.

Even the 110 phones are for emergency use only — doctors, hospitals, fires, police, vital businesses.

No phones are operating in private homes. Instead 50 emergency sets with red blinker lights attached — so they can be spotted at night — are placed on people's front porches at selected spots through the city and near a few places of business.

"Communications - wise, we're right back where we were in 1903," a phone company official says.

The big hush which has descended on the town is the result of a $250,000 fire which destroyed the mysterious innards of the Mount Vernon Telephone Co. It will be at least the middle of the summer before service is restored.

As a result, women wanting to make beauty shop appointments write a postcard asking for a date. Same for routine visits to doctors and dentists.

The local daily newspaper, which has a single phone for emergency use only, ran a notice asking people to bear with them and bring in their ads and news. Reporters, used to getting much of their news by phone, now have to trot all over town on foot.

You can't order groceries from home. If you run out of gas somewhere, you hoof it to a gas station. You can't pick up the phone and summon the plumber or TV repairman.

Taxis form a long line at the curb before the cab company, waiting for the phone calls that never come. Some have taken to cruising the route of an abandoned busline at regular intervals, hoping people will wait for them as they used to for the busses.

Under the impression her house was going up in flames, and afraid to entrust this dire intelligence to the shaky emergency phone system, Mrs. Robert Smith drove pell mell seven miles in from the country to summon the fire department.

The firemen, in turn, drove pell mell out to her house only to find nothing worse than a smoldering electrical connection. No fire.

Some businesses which depend on telephones largely for orders are suffering, but not too much. "People find it's not too hard just to drop by and order what they want," a grocer said. "Besides they get a chance to look at what they're buying that way."

The situation even has its bright sides. "I never did like phones," says Ronald LeMaster, clothing store operator. "As a matter of fact, I hated them. I can have a little peace and quiet now." Several others share that feeling. Mostly they were men.

"Even the marathon phone calls of the teen-agers are silenced," the Mount Vernon News commented. "Thus some may argue that even a telephone disaster has its bright side."

The teen age girls are admittedly "destroyed" and "simply crushed" at the situation. One of a group chattering about the catastrophe in a drug store, said, "how can they expect us to have the senior (high school) picnic when we can't even have any phones to talk about it with?"

The situation has taught the police, local Red Cross disaster service, and the Civil Defense organization how woefully unprepared they were for such an emergency.

As it was, John E. Scott, local Civil Defense director, was able to recruit 42 ham radio operators to Mount Vernon from Columbus and Mansfield in the first hours after the fire when even police phones and radios were out.

"The people — the Red Cross and the Civil Defense—actually came to the rescue of the police," says Chief H. E. George. "Right away we're going to get together with the Civil Defense and Red Cross and map out a plan in case such a thing should ever come up again."

Meantime, from a telephone standpoint, things are what they were a half-century ago, the year the Wright brothers flew the first airplane.

The World Today—

Ike, AF At Odds Over Money

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of four articles on the Air Force revolt against the Eisenhower defense budget.)

By DON WHITEHEAD
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's defense budget has been challenged as one that imperils U. S. security by clipping the Air Force's wings.

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, has made that serious accusation. The general wants Congress to override the administration and provide money for a 143-wing Air Force rather than wait for a complete new review of U. S. military needs by the incoming Joint Chiefs of Staff and the National Security Council.

Eisenhower has told the nation: "We are not going to cripple this nation and we are going specifically to keep up its air power."

But Vandenberg testified before a Senate committee: "I feel that under the present budget the delay in reaching the proper strength of the Air Force is endangering national defense."

Now, in those two statements somebody is wrong. Both men can't be right—not if they are working from the same estimates of the world situation.

The key to these tradictions appears to be that Eisenhower and his civilian defense chiefs base their planning on one estimate of the danger of Soviet attack and the air power needed in the near future, while Vandenberg bases his position on a different—and more alarming—estimate.

Thus if Vandenberg is right then the U. S. should gear up fast. If the administration assessment is correct, then obviously there is time for a new look at the entire picture.

Let's take a look at how this situation developed:

Back in 1951 under the Truman regime, the Joint Chiefs of Staff agreed on strength levels for the Army, Navy and Air Force which they considered a safe minimum.

The buildup goal for the Air Force was 143 wings. The number of planes in a wing varies according to the mission. For example, there are 30 bombers in a wing—but a fighter wing consists of 75 combat planes.

Military men estimated that by 1954 Russia would have the potential for all-out atomic attack on the U. S. They aimed for 143 wings by that year, but later shifted their sights to mid-1955.

Congress appropriated billions. In the past three years, the U. S. spent about $101,740,000,000 on rearmament and the Korean War. The Air Force began expanding. Contracts were made, plans were made for bases and training of personnel.

Then the administration changed. Eisenhower entered the White House and chose Charles E. Wilson of General Motors as his defense secretary.

Wilson immediately froze construction of new bases not deemed vital. He reduced personnel estimates and went about the business of seeing how and where military spending could be cut.

Wilson and his deputy, Roger M. Kyes, made statements clearly indicating they did not think Russia was ready for war either in the air or industrially. Eisenhower rejected any "crisis year" approach to the defense buildup.

Wilson took a look at the plane production schedules. He found the aircraft industry had fallen behind in combat plane deliveries as much as 30 per cent. He figured the Air Force couldn't reach the 143-wing goal under any circumstances before December, 1955.

Wilson found, too, that the Air Force was making contracts in which the "lead time" for deliveries was as much as three years in advance. He decided this lead time could be cut to two years and therefore the Air Force wouldn't need so much money for advance financing.

Besides, there was on hand 28 billion dollars that the Air Force hadn't spent. The lag in production had thrown the whole program out of gear.

Wilson and his aides made no cutback in the combat plane production. They decided to keep production rolling—and even to strive to speed up deliveries.

But Wilson, with Eisenhower's backing, wanted another look at that 143-wing goal. He fixed what he called an "interim" goal of 120 wings by 1955, with the final decision on the size of the Air Force to be based on a study by the new Joint Chiefs and National Security Council.

Vandenberg says if Congress will give the Air Force an extra $1,435,000,000 the 143-wing level will be reached by 1957. Wilson says he can achieve the same goal by 1957 if the new study justifies it, without additional money this year.

(Tomorrow: the relationship of the atom bomb to the size of the Air Force.)

Red Engineers Begin Erecting New Building, Possibly to Sign Truce

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Communist Army engineers and civilian laborers worked busily today to erect a new building at Panmunjom, possibly as the site of the Korean armistice signing.

Foundations indicate it will be the largest structure here.

Other civilian workers started demolishing the last four Korean mud huts at the truce site.

Allied security officers said they did not know the purpose of the Communist work. But Red broadcasters said Wednesday the site for the truce signing was being surveyed.

Scientists have concluded that the melting point and the solidification point of a metal are not identical temperatures, in spite of the fact that they generally are believed to be the same.

Red Press Discloses Errors In Governing Of Baltic States

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet press today disclosed "serious mistakes" in the governing of the Baltic state of Lithuania and said more Lithuanian nationals are going to be given a chance to make good.

Today's papers said a recent meeting of the Lithuanian Communist party's Central Committee admitted distortions in carrying out national policies, particularly by "insufficient training and promotion" of Lithuanian nationals to party and economic posts.

Similar mistakes were uncovered only last week in the important Ukrainian Republic. As a result, the top Communist there, L. G. Melnikov, was ousted from his post as first secretary of the Ukrainian party.

It was reported at the time that the firing of Melnikov was a part of the Kremlin campaign against individuals or policies tending to undermine the friendship among the various nationalities of the Soviet Union. For one thing, Melnikov was accused of ordering the use of the Russian language rather than Ukrainian in some schools.

German Says Riots Prove People Hate Communist Domination

HONOLULU (AP)—Dr. Heinz Krekeler, West German charge d'affaires in the United States, said today rioting in East Germany "is proof that the people of East Germany are anti-Communists."

Krekeler, here on a five-day inspection tour, said the rioting pointed up the strong pressures building up in the Soviet zone. He said such riots don't easily happen in Germany, where the people are normally well disciplined.

Truman Would Like To Get Back to Work For Democratic Party

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said the "Democratic party is, and always has been, a going concern," and expressed once more his intention to work in the party's ranks "if they let me."

Truman's remarks were made to reporters summoned to his Kansas City office for what he described as "just about the first political statement I've made" since leaving the White House. The statement was made public yesterday.

The former Chief Executive said the record of the past four months has demonstrated that the "Republican party is the party of special interests."

Truman made it plain he looks to Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee in the last election, as leader of the party.

As to himself, he said, "I have no special privileges (in the Democratic party) because I was President of the United States."

Girl Scout Day Camp Closes Friday With a Program

The Girl Scout Day Camp, now being held at Camp Sakajawea, is conducted according to schedule and grown-ups could profit by the example they set of planning their time.

Wednesday there were 127 scouts, 24 adults, three girls who were guests of scouts, four consultants and "Pete the Pigeon." They had such a good time that "Repeat," another pigeon belonging to Lois Moon, also joined the camp.

Earl Priegle farm forester of the Missouri Conservation Commission, cooperating with the United States Forest Service, spent a day at the camp taking the different units on hiks and teaching them different trees and answering a million questions. Miss Marian Keens gave sketching lessons, the older girls sketching the Little House and the "Fly Ups" the tent.

Mrs. C. H. Mathieson continued her nature talks and Mrs. Earl Grady the wood carving from yesterday. Mrs. H. L. Dougherty gave square dancing instruction.

Every day an inspection is made of every unit and the units fulfilling all camping requirements get a flag to hang at their entrance. Tuesday all the units received flag and this was very unusual. The requirements are: All tools must be in place, trash must be in the keg, garbage pail clean, tent in order, eating table clean, fire bucket and sack available, wood pile in order and no comics in evidence.

The camp closes Friday with a program beginning at 2 p.m. All parents and friends are urged to be at the camp. The girls would like to have guests come to their units before the program and see a camp set up and their camp gadgets. The buses will leave the camp at 3:30 that day as usual.

What Others Say

L. D. FRALEY (Chillicothe, Mo. Letter to Police Chief Neighbors, Sedalia)—I am a resident of Chillicothe, 45 years of age, and am engaged in the livestock business throughout the State of Missouri. We spend a good many thousands of dollars in the Sedalia locality each year. I spent 15 years with a large corporation which operates several thousand vehicles on the highway. I have always been a firm believer in observing the law and taking every safety precaution possible to avoid accidents. I travel on an average of 30,000 miles per year, and I received my first traffic violation ticket in your city Monday, June 15.

I was arrested by Patrolmen Franklin and Gardner on Highway 50 near Osage Street, and the charge was that I was driving 35 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone. It is quite easy to exceed a 25 mile per hour speed limit on a Federal Highway and I don't question the integrity of your patrolmen. I had an appointment to meet Mr. Raymond Chancey, a resident of Sedalia, at the intersection of Highway and County Road "C" which was very few blocks from the point where I was stopped by the patrolmen. I requested the privilege of driving these four or five blocks to tell him there would be a delay in our appointment, but my request was flatly refused. Believe that our local police would have granted such a request to a resident of Sedalia or any other neighboring town.

I went to the City Hall and paid the $15.00 cash bond which was imposed by your Police Department. The desk sergeant explained that you had had over 200 accidents in Sedalia so far this year, and I am wondering if you have made a survey to determine if such accidents are caused by motorists driving 35 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone or if there might be some other contributing factor.

After paying my cash bond I proceeded to keep my appointment with Mr. Chancey. I drove directly south of the Buick garage. When I approached Highway 50 I noticed that there were no stop signs to warn an out-of-town motorist that he was approaching a Federal Highway. In fact, I was amazed to learn that there are at least 16 or 18 streets leading into Highway 50 which have no stop signs or caution signals to warn a non-resident. I turned east and Highway 50 and held my speed at 25 miles per hour. In the few blocks from Osage Street to the city limits nine vehicles passed me, which would indicate that I was no exception in violating the speed limit on that particular street.

We feel that you have no reason to discriminate against a non-resident; therefore, with adequate patrol cars your income from traffic violations could be increased from $15.00 per hour to $1,000.00 or $1,500.00 per hour. We don't know just how this money is allocated but it would go a long way toward constructing much needed stop signs approaching Highway 50 and might reduce a great number of accidents which your department claims to date this year. Of course, a check of your records might reveal that the absence of these signs has been a source of considerable income from motorists who fail to stop when they approach Highway 50, but by the same token, it may have contributed somewhat to your traffic accidents to date.

I hold no malice whatsoever. I feel that your city urgently needed the $15.00 bond assessed against me, but I am wondering if it's lack of adequate patrolmen, or discrimination, that such a great percentage of vehicles exceed the 25 mile speed limit on Highway 50 thru that particular zone.

St. Louis Co. Drops Tax Rate by 2 Cents, Ups Other Levies

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A 1953 tax rate of 97 cents per 100 valuation, two cents under the 1952 rate, was set last night by the St. Louis County Council.

The council set the new levy after approval of amendments providing an increase of one cent for the County Health Department and one cent for landfill operations. The health department levy was boosted from six cents to seven cents.

The landfill levy would be for operation of landfills by the county in the event arrangements for garbage and refuse disposal by private haulers reached an impasse or the county had to operate them in an emergency.

Max Was Really Born, But He Had to Struggle to Prove It

Of all things, it took a boy eight days to prove that he was born.

Max Wayne Allen, 18 (this age is the final result of a large amount of investigation), son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Allen, 1517 East Fourth, decided to enlist in the army. This decision was the first in a long chain of events that touched many people in this vicinity before Max Wayne finally left Wednesday for Kansas City and induction into the army.

Max Wayne first contacted M/Sgt. Brady Ray, the local army recruiting officer, on June 9. After going through the regular procedure which leads up to the induction, Sgt. Ray sent off to Jefferson City for a birth verification on the boy.

Monday, June 15, he received word that there was no record of Max Wayne's birth. Then the long line of inquiries which were required to prove the boy was born on June 29, 1935, began.

Max Wayne first brought to the recruiting office a notice from his mother which said that he was 1[illegible] and old enough to enlist. This notice was not acceptable because it was not notarized. Finally after the note was notarized another pieces of evidence was needed before the boy could enlist.

Max Wayne thought that the surest way to get this last piece of evidence was to see the doctor who attended his birth. When he visited the office of the doctor he found that this particular one could not remember the birth, though he tended the boy's family.

The next step was to get a notice from school saying that he had registered at a certain date and had listed his birthday then as June 29, 1935.

This became a problem also.

Max thought that he had started school at Washington grade school: his family thought that he had first gone to a country school. So to trace this information he and the recruiting offfcer had to get the information from the superintendent of school's office.

The reports in this office revealed that the boy had actually started at Whittier school and that he had registered with his birth as June 29, 1935.

After this information was forwarded with the school's seal, it seemed that Max was now ready to go.

His ticket to Kansas City was purchased and his travel orders confirmed, but Sgt. Ray, who had been through all the episodes, was not able to see the boy off on the bus, as he was out of town on Wednesday.

So it was not until Thursday at 9 a.m. that everyone concerned was sure that the boy not only was born, but was on his way to the army.

Sedalian Is Chosen As Team Captain

Among those chosen as team captains for sports events at Missouri Boy's State at CMSC in Warrensburg was Charles Brady, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Brady, 720 West Fifth.

Brady was chosen as the swimming instructor for Boone City.

Cab Driver Gets Prison Sentence For 1950 Holdup

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A circuit court jury has convicted a 44-year-old St. Louis cab driver of first degree armed robbery after hearing the same evidence upon which another jury found him innocent last February.

James Lee Montgomery was sentenced to seven years in prison by the jury in Judge William H. Killoren's court yesterday. His attorney plans an appeal.

The charges against Montgomery were different but grew out of the same holdup of two physicians in October, 1950. Montgomery was acquitted in February of the holdup of Dr. Park J. White. After listening to the same evidence, a jury yesterday found him guilty of the holdup of Dr. George Sato.

Both doctors were held up at gunpoint at the same time and both identified Montgomery as the robber in both trials.

Jurors said later they wondered why Montgomery had not taken the stand in his own defense and said they found the physicians' testimony convincing.

The February acquittal was the second trial on the White case charge. Montgomery was found guilty in the first trial and sentenced to 15 years in prison but the State Supreme Court later reversed the sentence and ordered a new trial.

Rotary Is Given a Win to Stay On Top; Kiwanis Downs Jaycees

Rotary was given a victory, 6-3, by the Elks Wednesday night to remain undefeated as the leader of the National division of the Little League majors while Kiwanis defeated Jaycees 6 to 4 in one of the best games of the season.

Getting only two hits, Rotary used walks and errors to score the win after the Elks had the game won. Herrick had both hits, a double and a single, as his team scored 1 in the first on a walk and an error; two in the 4th on a hit batter, one of Herrick's triples and an error; two more in the fifth on two walks and an error and one in the 6th on a walk and Herrick's second three bagger.

Nichols and Herrick did the hurling for Rotary, Herrick getting credit for the win, while Gates and Noland were on the mound for the Elks, Noland the loser.

There were several beautiful plays in the field by both teams in the Kiwanis - Jaycee contest. Stratton, the Kiwanis shortstop, roamed all over the right side of the field to make several good catches and accurate throws that caught men off base, and he took part in the season's fastest double play, Stratton - to - Dodson - to-Kelly, that stopped a JC scoring threat.

Ray pitched the entire game for Kiwanis, took the victory. Bredwell was the loser, although he gets credit for a well pitched game.

Extra base hits for the evening, in addition to Herrick's two triples, were: home run by Kelly of Kiwanis, doubles by Jim Mateja of Kiwanis, Bredwell of Jaycees and B. Noland, of Elks.

Maybe Braves Stole Yankees' Book on How to Win Pennants

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sportswriter

Maybe those hit-happy Milwaukee Braves made a secret excursion to Yankee Stadium on their last trip East.

Somewhere along the line they certainly stole a copy of the New Yorkers' private book on how to win pennants.

Applying the techniques described in the chapter "club 'em to death," the Braves mopped up their new stadium with the Philadelphia Phillies, 9-6, last night, and pulled a fat 2½ games out in front of the rest of the National League.

Two and a half games doesn't sound like much when compared with the Yankees' tremendous 10½ length advantage over Cleveland in the American League. But it has to qualify as a big lead in the senior circuit, where only one other time this season has the first-place team been that far ahead. That was way back on April 27 when the Phillies led the Chicago Cubs—yes, the same Cubs now occupying the cellar—by 2½ games.

The Braves came home Tuesday only half a game off Brooklyn's pace after a 22-game road trip. They remedied this immediately by winning two from the Phils Tuesday night while the Dodgers bowed to St. Louis.

Last night's victory came as the Cards again obliged by thumping Brooklyn, 9-3.

Adding to the joy of the Milwaukee fans is the league schedule which calls for their new idols to play 18 of their next 21 games at home, where they have a spectacular 16-4 record so far.

With second-place Brooklyn on the road and the third-place Cardinals still 6½ games behind, this could be the Braves' big chance to blow the race apart.

Chicago defeated Pittsburgh, 5-4, last night in 16 innings—longest game of the season in either league—and the New York Giants beat Cincinnati, 4-1.

The New York Yankees hit the winning trail again at the expense of the St. Louis Browns, who broke the New Yorkers' 18-game victory streak Tuesday night. Yesterday the Yankees won, 5-3, with Allie Reynolds back on the starting line after a siege of bullpen duty.

The Cleveland Indians outlasted the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-6, to end a six-game losing run. The A's had won seven straight.

Boston smothered the Detroit Tigers, 17-1, and Walt Masterson threw a sparkling two-hitter at the Chicago White Sox to give Washington a 1-0 decision.

The Braves jumped away to a 7-0 lead over the Phils in the first three innings with an attack which included home runs by Joe Adcock and Del Crandall in the third.

The Cardinals, aided by a pair of doubles by Stan Musial and Steve Bilko's eighth homer, scored all their runs after two were out. The first one came on four straight walks in the first inning by starter Johnny Podres, who had retired the first two men. Bilko homered with one on in the third and the Cards pushed five across in the seventh.

The marathon at Chicago ended when Randy Jackson singled with the bases loaded in the 16th off Johnny Hetki, who has held the Cubs scoreless since coming on in the ninth.

Billy Martin sparked the Yankees' return to form against the Browns with a perfect day at bat—three singles in three times up, driving in a pair of runs.

The closest contest was at Washington, where Masterson and the White Sox' Saul Rogovin both had one-hitters through seven innings. Chico Carrasquel opened the Chicago sixth with a single and Jim Rivera got the only other White Sox hit, a double to start the eighth.

The Washington tally came in the ninth on a single by Mickey Vernon that brought in Ed Fitzgerald from third.

Bill Wight and Art Houtteman, two newcomers from Detroit, came to the aid of Bobby Feller as Cleveland beat the Athletics. Feller couldn't hold a 6-2 lead and Wight took over in the fourth. Houtteman followed in the seventh with Wight getting the triumph, his first.

T&C Girls Nip Columbia, 5-4 Here Wednesday

Leftfielder Irene Sanders batted home three runs, including the deciding one, Wednesday night to lead the Town and Country girls' softball team to a 5-4 triumph over Columbia Semmons on the Center Park diamond.

Outhit 8-6, the Sedalians cashed in on each of three scoring opportunities.

They chased across two in the second on two walks and a hit by Katherine Koeller; counted twice in the third on hits by Mickey Olson and Sanders and a walk to Nellie Hanna and wound up with the fifth (and deciding) run in the fourth on singles by Koeller, Olson and Sanders.

The trio which accounted for the fourth inning tally also contributed all the winners' base hits, two apiece.

The T & C hurler, Earline Walz allowed only two earned runs. Both came in the first on Billie McKenzie's single and Sue Burks' homer. The losers added two more in the sixth, but both were made possible by T&C bobbles.

The Sedalians own a 4-1 season's record, with Columbia handing them the only loss in T&C's opening game.

Fourth game in the Sedalia-Columbia series will be played Friday night in Columba.

Town and Country's next home game will be Sunday night at 8 at Center Park against a Kansas City team.

Stan Musial Predicts He'll Escape Slump, But Can't Say How

ST. LOUIS, AP — Stan Musial predicted today he will pull out of the most prolonged batting slump of his career and hit over .300 for the 14th consecutive season.

The St. Louis Cardinal star said he still hasn't found the answer to the slump and has no private problems to blame it on.

"If I can get close to .300 before the all-star game (July 14), I still might make it the second half of the season," Musial said. His present average of .250 is nearly 100 points lower than his lifetime average.

Jaycees Golf Tournament On June 29

Frankie Reynolds Enters Contest As Defending Champ

The fourth annual Junior Chamber of Commerce golf tournament will be held Monday, June 29, at the Elm Hills golf course for all boys 18 years and under.

The boys interested in entering the tournament can register at the Elm Hills course or at the Mullins Men's Shop.

Frankie Reynolds, 1952 champion has entered for this year and will be defending his Sedalia title. Reynolds placed second in the state tournament at Moberly last year and went to Oregon for the National.

The state tournament this year is to be played on the Moberly Country Club course again, the dates having been set for Thursday and Friday, July 9-10. The national tournament will be played at Ann Arbor, Mich., on the University of Michigan golf course Monday, August 17.

The qualifying round for the Sedalia tournament will be nine holes to be played Monday morning. The finals are to be played in the afternoon with a nine-hole round.

The Sedalia Jaycees are to present to the first and second place winners trophies and to the third and fourth place winners will go medals. The Jaycees will pay the expenses of the champions to the State Tournament while the State organization will defray the expenses of the State Champion to Michigan.

The local tournament this year is being handled by Bob Wall as chairman and the following members of his committee, Don Weller, George Thompson, Dennis Swanson and Ken Fallis.

Cards Mangle Bums for Second Straight, 9-3

By The Associated Press

Three innings of scoring after two men were out put the St. Louis Cardinals on the long end of the score as the Redbirds dumped the Brooklyn Dodgers for the second straight game.

Last night's score was 9-3 as the Cardinals, favored by bad-hop base hits, scored three times in the fifth against Ben Wade and five times in the seventh off Joe Black.

The Birds scored once in the first on four straight walks issued by Brooklyn starter Johnny Podres.

The Cardinals collected 10 hits which included Steve Bilko's eighth homer and two doubles by Stan Musial. Rip Repulski smashed a triple.

Things went back to normal in New York as the Yankees defeated the Browns, 5-3. But the Brownies had already stopped their 14-game losing streak and the Yanks, 18-game winning streak the day before.

Allie Reynolds, who returned to his starting role for first time in about a month, was the winner although he needed help from Johnny Sain.

The Yanks got nine hits off Bobo Holloman and Max Lanier. Holloman was knocked out in the fifth when the Yanks broke a 1-1 tie with two runs.

Dick Kokos hit a two-run single for the Browns in the eighth.

Tommy Sanders Hurls Schlitz Leaders' Win Over Houstonia Club

Veteran Tommy Sanders fired a 3-hit beauty at Houstonia Tuesday night to guide the Schlitz Leaders to a 4-2 softball victory against the Sedalians' Central Missouri Softball League foe.

Fanning 13 and walking only one, Sanders needed all his skill to edge Houstonia's Bob Faulconer, who allowed only four safeties in the hurling duel.

The Leaders broke the scoring ice in the fifth with a lone run and added another in the seventh to take a 2-0 lead.

Houstonia bounced back to knot the count in the bottom of the seventh on a single and a home run by Hayes, the losers' centerfielder.

In the top of the eighth the Schlitz club wrapped up the encounter on a walk and a round tripper by Paul Evans.

Evans paced the local attack with a perfect three-for-three night.

The Leaders next play SAFB Base Supply at Center Park Friday night. This contest will be the second game of a twin-bill with the SAFB AIO Squadron meeting Marshall Knights of Columbus in the 8 p. m. opening tilt.

BJ Chiefs Play Key Tilt Friday With Brookfield

CENTRAL MO. B-I STANDINGS	W	L	Pct.
Boonville	4	2	.667
Sedalia	4	2	.667
Mexico	3	3	.500
Moberly	2	3	.400
Brookfield	1	4	.200

With only two games left in the first half of the Central Missouri Ban Johnson season, the Sedalia Chiefs, currently tied for first place with the Boonville Lions, go to Brookfield Friday night in a "must" encounter.

This game represents a golden opportunity for Manager George Thompson's charges, for while the Chiefs meet the relatively weak Bombers Friday, the Lions must play the tough Moberly Miners on Sunday.

Thompson has selected the curve-baller Bobby Brown to hurl Sedalia into undisputed first place Friday and put the pressure on the Boonville club.

The remainder of the Chief lineup against Brookfield will find Don Higgins at first; Bobby Case at shortstop; Jim Fall in left field; Carl Miller, the fielding star in last Sunday's tilt with Mexico, in center; Buck Bennett at second; Sonny Thomas at third; Dick Dillon or Bill Arnold in right field and Larry Mines behind the plate.

Next Sunday, Thompson has scheduled an 8 p. m. contest here against Knob Noster. He said Wednesday night that Arnold will open on the hill.

The Chiefs wind up their first half play here June 26 against Boonville, a contest which easily could decide the first half crown. In all probability Skip Schulz will be the starting Chief pitcher.

School Teacher Tries to Dump Patty Berg

ATLANTA AP—Claire Doran, a Columbus, O., schoolteacher, drew the tough assignment of trying to eliminate plucky Patty Berg in the quarterfinals of the Women's Western Open today.

Miss Doran, runnerup to Atlanta's Dot Kirby in the 1951 National Amateur, scored identical 6 and 4 victories in her first two matches. But she readily admitted that Miss Berg, who is after her fifth western crown, would be hard to beat.

Claire, co-medalist with Louise Suggs of Atlanta and Jackie Pung of Glasgow, Ky., reached the quarter-finals by turning back Marilynn Smith of Wichita yesterday, 6 and 4.

Miss Suggs, a three-time winner of this tournament, defeated Tennessee State Champion Marnie Polk of Chattanooga, 4 and 3. Mrs. Pung was eliminated, bowing 1-down to 19-year-old Pat Lesser, national intercollegiate champion from Seattle.

Although defending champion Betsy Rawls was defeated by Miss Berg, 2-up, her hole-in-one on No. 11 was still a topic of conversation. Her four-iron shot landed about 10 feet in front of the pin, took a bounce, dribbled up to the cup, hesitated a moment, then dropped.

Middlecoff Moves Into Inverness Tourney Lead Role

TOLEDO, O. AP—Dr. Cary Middlecoff moved into the favorite role in the 16th Inverness Invitational matches after firing a four-under-par 67 in a practice round yesterday.

Middlecoff, who picked up in the third round of last week's National Open at Pittsburgh following a squabble about starting times, had seven birdies and missed par on three holes as he toured the historic 6,545-yard Inverness course.

Sportsmen End Losing Streak In 13-7 Win

Steady relief pitching by Manager Dave Miller enabled the Sedalia Sportsmen to snap a six-game losing streak Wednesday night, as the club pounded out a 13-7 verdict over the Marshall Merchants on the Liberty Park diamond.

Miller came on with one out in the first inning, after the losers had rapped Sportsmen starter Bill Hayworth for two runs. He retired the side, after one more run had counted, and went on to hold the visitors to eight hits while striking out 14.

Jack Slocum was the leading Sedalia batter, driving in three runs with two doubles and a single.

Marshall outhit the Sportsmen, 10-7, but seven bases on balls and seven errors by the losers made up the deficit. The Sportsmen made only four bobbles during the game, a far cry from their average of eight recorded in the three previous contests.

The bright spot in Sedalia's play was the defensive work of centerfielder Johnny Cook, who made three brilliant catches to pull Miller out of tight spots.

The Sportsmen, now owning a 6-7 season's record, next take on Tebbetts at Liberty Park at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

This will be a Central Missouri League game. Sedalia is 1-3 in the league.

Miller, whose season mark is two victories against three losses, will be the starting pitcher for the Sportsmen.

Owls Will Try To Wrest Lead From St. Joseph

By The Associated Press

The Topeka Owls, with a record of 14 victories in their last 15 games, moves into St. Joseph tonight with an opportunity to wrest the Western Association lead from the Cardinals.

The Owls meet the Cardinals, who sport a three game lead, in a three-game series at St. Joseph. The Cardinals travel to Topeka June 21 for another three game schedule.

Topeka blanked the Ft. Smith-Van Buren Twins 3-0 last night for the second shutout in a row over the Arkansas visitors.

Bob Walz limited the Twins to seven hits to gain credit for his seventh victory in 10 starts. Owl batters Joe Jaworski and Tom Pritchard helped the Owls' score with a pair of triples.

St. Joseph fashioned a 7-1 triumph over Joplin for their third victory in the four game series at Joplin. Cardinal batters jumped off to a five-run lead in the first two innings and drove Leigh Lawrence, Joplin's starting pitcher, from the mound.

Muskogee won its second consecutive victory over Hutchinson by edging the Elks 8-7 for a split of the four game series.

Dan Toma scored the Giants' winning run in the sixth when he scampered home from third on a long drive to right field by John Toyner.

Tonight's schedule: Hutchinson at Ft. Smith, Joplin at Muskogee and Topeka at St. Joseph.

Castellani Worries About Slow-Moving Bout With Langlois

CLEVELAND AP—Rocky Castellani, the winner, worried today about his fallen prestige while Pierre Langlois, the loser, started a vacation.

"Here we are a couple of ranking middleweights and we looked like amateurs," Castellani lamented after their televised bout last night in Cleveland Arena.

Castellani, 158, ranked seventh in his class, won a split decision to avenge a close loss to Langlois, 160, in New York last February. But the American winner appeared as unhappy about the fight as the French loser.

"I just moved to Cleveland (from Luzerne, Pa.) and I wanted to look good and then I have this bad fight," Castellani went on. "But he fights all bad fights.

"You can't open him up. I'd sooner fight him in the streets."

Everybody, including the crowd that booed the decision, and Langlois, seemed to agree it was a dull, often boring fight.

Hint to Motorists

It is advisable to use new gaskets when installing new spark plugs and also to make certain that the plug is screwed down tightly with a wrench. After the the car used for awhile they must be tightened still farther to avoid compression leakage.

Robinson Sees Olson Winning Over Young

NEW YORK (AP)—Ray Robinson, an accepted authority on middleweight boxers, picks Bobo Olson to win a decision from Paddy Young tomorrow night in their 15-round match for the American middleweight title at Madison Square Garden.

Reached by phone at Providence, R. I., where he is doing his song and dance routine in a night club, the retired world champion analyzed the two fighters like this:

"Young is a good action fighter, a crowd pleaser. He has a harder punch than Olson.

"Olson is smarter, more scientific. He can't hurt Young.

"I think it will be grueling, tough fight with Olson winning on a decision."

The winner, of course, qualifies for an August bout with Britain's Randy Turpin for the undisputed world championship, the title Robinson used to hold until he stepped down last year.

Was there any chance of Robinson coming back, as he hinted, if the title should go across the ocean?

"Not a chance in the world," he said. "I'm retired. Whoever wins it, can keep it."

Robinson never fought Young although he has seen the New York youngster in most of his bouts. He boxed Olson twice, knocking him out in the 12th round Oct. 26, 1950, and winning a close one, March 13, 1952, on a 15-round decision.

The punch that Robinson used to stop Olson in their first fight was a right to the body. Young's camp has been making much of that, for Paddy is a rugged body thumper with a left hook.

Olson, favored about 3 to 1, worked out lightly at his West End, N. J., camp yesterday. He predicted a victory by a decision—on body punches.

Young finished his work at Wilton, N. J., by going on the road. He has made no pick except to say, "Olson had better not get tired."

Sports Roundup--

Letter Complains of Fast Shuffle in Bid for Pro Work

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The mailman brought a letter signed by Charles C. Riccio, 19, a resident of Brooklyn who wishes to become a professional baseball catcher and who feels he has been given a fast shuffle by his hometown Dodgers.

"On May 6th," Riccio writes, "I was awarded a contract with Brooklyn and assigned to the Hornell farm team, Class-D Pony League. I left for Hornell on May 18, having left my job, put up my car for sale and been given a grand sendoff by family and friends. Now, less than three weeks later, I am home again, having been unconditionally released.

"The three weeks I was at Hornell I spent sitting on the bench and warming up pitchers. I was assigned to play only on two occasions and was at bat three times. Do you consider this a fair trial of a player's merit—justifying the abrupt cancellation of his contract?

"I am wondering whether this is the way all new players are treated by the Dodgers, or whether I was especially unlucky in falling into the hands of the manager at Hornell, who happens also to be the catcher of the team there.

"The manager himself insisted on playing in all the games, even though on one occasion his ankle was so badly injured that it had to be taped—and he is still limping. Another time, when he was stricken with fly and ordered to stay in bed, he still insisted on playing and actually threw up in the dugout.

"Of course I'm not giving up yet, but I did want you to know how such high hopes could be so completely and, I believe, unfairly shattered in so short a time."

Such a communication from baseball's nether world has been rare in our experience, and we lost little time in getting through to Buzz Bavasi, a clean-living young vice president of the Dodgers. Advised that he might be in position to do his good deed for the summer, Bavasi said wait a minute.

"I have it here, his card," he said finally. "It has a yellow N. P. on it. That means no prospect. I also just received a copy of his letter. Looks like he's writing to everybody."

Just the same, we pursued, did the Dodgers cause this ambitious young man to lose his regular job by promising him a baseball career and then cast him loose after only three times at bat?

"He did not give up his job," Bavasi replied. "We insisted that he get a leave of absence before we consented to his plea that he be given a chance. We gave him a one-month contract, even though we thought he was too small and did not consider him a prospect.

"At the end of the month we thought it fairer to him to cut him loose. We were convinced he could never hope to reach the big leagues, so why kid him? In addition to his pay we gave him $250 to cover his expenses."

Was it customary, we asked, to hire such hopefuls on a month-to-month basis? Our vague impression had been that all baseball contracts ran for at least a season.

"We have to do it that way in the low minors," Buzz explained patiently. "Otherwise we'd find ourselves loaded up with kids who can't really play ball."

One more thing—what about that catcher - manager up at Hornell who won't let anybody else play, even when he should be in an oxygen tent? What about him?

"We owe Riccio a vote of thanks for tipping us off about that fellow," Bavasi chortled. "That's the kind we need. We'll take care of that boy. His name's Merv Dornburg."

Coe and Young Are Matched In Mississippi

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A couple of Oklahomans, defending champion Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City and Leonard Young of Tulsa, were matched in the second round feature of the 50th Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament today.

Coe, the thin long stroker who won the National Amateur title in 1949 and is trying for his fourth Trans crown, had a tough foe in Young, the present Oklahoma state amateur champion.

Coe and Young met once before, two years ago in the Oklahoma State meet at Oklahoma city, and Young won 3 and 2.

In the first round over the Kansas City Country Club course yesterday both Coe and Young won by identical scores of 5 and 4. Both were a stroke under par for the distance on the 6,502-yard course. Coe beat Jim Hoak, Des Moines. Young trimmed Glenn Oatman, Kansas City.

Considerable attention also was on the match between Joe Conrad, of San Antonio, Texas, and Bob Busler, of Kansas City. Conrad, a member of North Texas State's NCAA championship team last year, was five strokes under par in eliminating Ray Mann of Kansas City in the first round.

Busler, who qualified with 249, compared to Conrad's 144, defeated Leland Kramer, of Kansas City, 2 up.

Gene Littler, San Diego, the number two qualifier at 143, ties up with the veteran Clancy Miller, Atchison, Kas., after beating Howard Dunham, Salina, Kas., 3 and 2. Miller eliminated Jack House, Kansas City, 4 and 3.

Harlan Hise, of Kansas City, became the hometown favorite by upsetting medalist Dee Replogle, Oklahoma City, 1 up on the nineteenth hole.

Hise hadn't been given much of a chance against the veteran Replogle.

13 Compete In College Track Meet

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—They hope it isn't an unlucky omen but 13 members of the 1952 All-America track team will be competing here in the National Collegiate Track and Field Meet Friday and Saturday evenings.

And that group includes three gold medal winners at the last Olympic games and nine other place winners. The NCAA meet even gets a bit of international flavor because seven of the Olympic place winners competed for foreign nations—but are going to school in the U. S.

The gold medal winners are Parry O'Brien, one of the top attractions of the meet here; Sim Iness and Lindy Remigino. O'Brien and Iness are Southern California field men and Remigino a Manhatta College dash star.

O'Brien and Wes Santee of Kansas, rate as the two top stars of the gathering.

O'Brien gets top billing because he has twice this year broken the world shut put record, and everybody is wondering if the big boy can make it three for the college season. His first record heave was 59 feet, ¾ inch on May 9 and less than a month later he bumped it up to 59 feet, 2⅜ inches.

Santee is a loping cowboy—his dad owns a Kansas ranch—who is today's top candidate to turn in a four minute mile.

The flying Jayhawker has a 4:02.4 mile to his credit and is considered as near a cinch as a cinch ever is to wipe the NCAA record of 4:08.3, set in 1938, off the book.

The 880 mark is another that can very easily be erased. Lang Stanley of San Jose State and Santee both are considered as wielders of the eraser. The NCAA mark is 1:50.3 and Stanley has a 1:49.5 clocking and Santee a 1:50.8.

Lad with the most "bests" of the year to his credit is another Kansas product. He is Thane Baker of Kansas State.

Baker has the best 100, 220 and 440 college timings of the season and he hasn't been beaten in the finals of these events in any meet this year.

But in this meet he has a very good chance to take his first defeat in a final. Baker may miss the 100 and try for a coveted 220-440 double.

Winter Is Named Head K-State Cage Mentor

MANHATTAN, Kas. (AP) — Fred (Tex) Winter, basketball coach at Marquette University, today was named head cage mentor at Kansas State College.

Winter surceeds Jack Gardner, K-State coach the last nine seasons who resigned early this month to accept a similar position at the University of Utah.

Announcement of Winter's selection was made by Dr. James A. McCain, K-State president, after approval of the new coach by the state board of regents.

Charley Grimm Is As Gay As Ever, Despite Rumors

MILWAUKEE (AP)—There's been some talk going around that Charley Grimm is not his old, carefree self any more.

"How come Charley doesn't do all those funny things in the coaching box any more?" the fans are asking. "He hasn't fainted once all year. Hasn't done that jig, either, or any of that other stuff he used to pull out at Borchert Field."

What about it, Charley?

"It's age, partly," admitted the stocky manager of the Milwaukee Braves. "The last time I tried that falling-down, fainting business I limped for a week, so I decided to give it up."

Grimm, who's 55, actually is just as gay as ever. The other night in New York he celebrated his first anniversary as Braves' manager by entertaining sportswriters traveling with the club. He clowned all over the place and wound up with several of his famous German versions of popular songs.

"Another thing about it," Grimm said, "is the atmosphere out here is different. This is a big production at this stadium. Out at old Borchert (where the Brewers under Grimm played their American Association games) the fans were close enough to reach out and pat you on the back.

"It was sort of like a big family—the same faces in the same seats right behind you every night. They got to expect a little entertainment with their minor league baseball so," and he grinned, "I gave it to them."

He did give it to them too. Anything went. Cap on sideways with the peak over his ear, Charley would shuffle with a Chaplinesque Brewer home run would find him on his knees, salaaming, as the hitter rounded third base. The faint, in which he'd sprawl backward and collapse in the dust, always was cued to some happening the fans couldn't believe either.

They loved it—and they loved Charley. They still do, even though nowadays about all his extracurricular activity in the coaching box consists of is stabbing ground fouls with a big, meaty hand as they go past and tossing them left-handed to the closest umpire.

"So he's not as funny," the fans shrug. "He's winning, ain't he? And we're in the big leagues. Is that bad?"

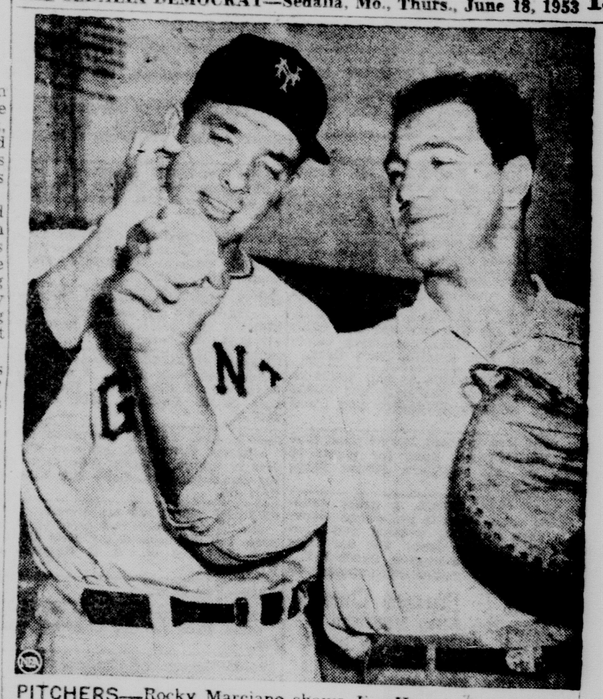

Champions Will Match To Keep North Texas From NCAA Golf Title

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Team champions from every major conference in the nation will challenge North Texas State's bid for a fifth straight NCAA golf championship next week on the Broadmoor course.

Top independent college teams, including Notre Dame, will be among the half-hundred expected to compete in the 56th annual tourney opening Sunday.

Oklahoma A&M, which conquired the Texas champs earlier this season, is expected to be one of the strongest challengers, the Oklahomans whipped North Texas for the Southwest Recreation Tournament title in Fort Worth. A&M won the Missouri Valley Conference crown for the seventh consecutive year and has a dual match record of 9-3-1.

Other formidable teams are Iowa State, the Big Seven champs with an 11-1 dual meet record, and Wichita University, 9-2.

PITCHERS—Rocky Marciano shows Jim Hearn of the Giants that he can throw a curve as well as a clout. The heavyweight champion tried out as a catcher in the Cubs' chain.

Snacks Pop Will Go For

IT'S A MAN'S WORLD when snacks like these are served.

If you want Pop and his friends to enjoy some Father's Day snacks, make them snappy. No tearoom sandwiches for Dad! He likes his hearty and man-size. One way you can please him is to have a trayful of such peppy sandwich makings as slices of onions, tomatoes, cheese, pickles and a spicy Liverwurst Spread to layer between rye bread. Add a bowl of corn chips for nibblers. For a real summertime refresher that won't leave the menfolks thirsty, accompany the snacks with a pitcher of iced tea.

Here's a brand new way of making two quarts of iced tea ahead of time. Bring one quart of fresh water to a full rolling boil. Remove from heat. Immediately add 6 tablespoons of tea. Brew 3 to 5 minutes. Stir. Strain into a pitcher or other container holding 1 quart of icy cold water. Leave at room temperature. When you're ready to serve, place ice cubes in glasses, fill with the tea, and pass the lemon and sugar.

With this new open saucepan method, it's not necessary to refrigerate the beverage. If you do prefer to store the tea in the refrigerator, you'll find it's apt to cloud although the flavor will be unaffected. However, you can bring back its bright color like magic by adding a little boiling water until it clears.

Try San Francisco Gourmet's Favorite Recipes for Guests

Just had luncheon with our friend, Frank Whitely of San Francisco. He's both a scholar and gourmet and also prominent in California's vast wine industry. When he and Mrs. Whitely entertain these are two of their favorite recipes:

Buffet Broccoli Ring
(Serves 5 or 6)

Two tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ cup milk, ¼ cup sherry wine (or an additional ¼ cup of milk), 1 bouillon cube, 2 cups finely chopped, cooked broccoli, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 3 eggs (separated), salt and pepper to taste.

Melt butter and stir in flour; add milk, wine or additional milk and bouillon cube; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens and bouillon cube is completely dissolved. Remove from heat. Add broccoli, onion, lemon juice, slightly beaten egg yolks, salt and pepper. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites.

Pour into a well - greased, 1-quart ring mold. Set mold in a shallow pan of hot water. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) for 45 to 50 minutes, or until firm.

Remove from oven and let stand 5 to 10 minutes before unmolding. Unmold on a hot platter and fill center of ring with Hollandaise or mushroom sauce, or with creamed chicken or shellfish.

Baked Eggs Miramar

One - quarter cup butter or margarine, ¼ cup flour, 1 cup milk, ½ cup chicken stock (canned or bouillon cube broth may be used), ½ cup sauterne (or an additional ½ cup chicken stock), salt and pepper to taste, 4 serving-sized slices baked or boiled ham, 8 eggs, ½ cup grated natural American Cheddar cheese, paprika.

Melt butter and stir in flour; add milk and chicken stock; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens. Add wine or additional chicken stock, salt and pepper.

Place a slice of ham in each of 4 shallow individual baking dishes; break 2 eggs over each ham slice; pour sauce over eggs. Sprinkle with cheese and dust with paprika. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 10 to 15 minutes, or until eggs are as done as desired.

Police Chief Warns Against Illegal Sale Of Firecrackers

Recently there have been several infractions of a city ordinance which forbids selling firecrackers before June 25 and also one which forbids selling merchandise (in this case also firecrackers) without a license and off of sidewalks and parkways.

All of these infractions are again t city laws and as such are punishable by fines and penalties.

Chief of Police Ed Neighbors said Tuesday that anyone caught violating these ordinances would be arrested and brought to the city police station for prosecution.

Keep Cooked Foods Chilled Or Hot to Avoid Spoilage

Outdoor eating, picnics, church suppers, etc., can be wonderful fun. But the Department of Agriculture has just sent out a warning, which if listened to, can prevent any cases of food poisoning. Here's what they say:

Already this season cases of food poisoning have been reported as an aftermath of picnics or community meals. The mistaken belief that once food is cooked it will keep for hours, even in a warm place, seems to be responsible for many of these outbreaks each summer.

Bacteriologists of the United States Department of Agriculture say the safe rule to follow when cooked food must wait is: keep it chilled or keep it very hot — but never at a warm, in-between temperature. They caution that foods which cause food poisoning often show no signs of spoilage, so you can't rely on taste, odor or appearance.

Especially subject to rapid and dangerous spoilage in a warm place are soft protein foods, especially those handled in preparation. These include soft custards, cream-filled pastries or cakes, cooked salad dressing, stuffed eggs or egg salads, and all cooked meats, poultry and fish. These foods can't wait in picnic baskets or out on the table.

Steak Joint Chicken Livers Paprika
(3 to 4 servings)

One pound fresh chicken livers, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon black pepper, 2 teaspoons paprika, 1½ teaspoons sugar, 1 large onion (diced), butter, Melba toast.

Saute onion in melted butter until completely brown. Add mixed seasoning and stir well. Add fresh chicken livers and saute six minutes. Serve in casserole with Melba toast. Takes about eight minutes to prepare.

Try Cherry-Rhubarb Pie, Jam

DEEP RED CHERRIES combined with rhubarb in pies and jam is an early summer flavor and color idea from the far Pacific Northwest.

Ever try combining plump, dark, sweet cherries with rhubarb? We learned about this delicious trick in the Pacific Northwest, land of bounteous cherry orchards.

The deep red of the cherries and the lighter shades of rhubarb produce pies and jam beautiful to look at and really wonderful to eat. So how about taking advantage of these early summer fruits while they are still in season?

Sweet Cherry and Rhubarb Pie

One pint pitted, dark, sweet cherries, 1 cup diced rhubarb, 2-3 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons tapioca, 1 tablespoon butter. Pastry for 2-crust 9-inch pies.

Combine first 4 ingredients and put in pastry-lined pie plate. Dot with butter. Place crust on top, vent and seal. Bake in hot oven (425° degrees F.) for 35 minutes.

Sweet Cherry Rhubarb Jam
(Makes about 5 8-ounce jars)

One - and - one - quarter pounds dark, sweet cherries, 1 pound rhubarb, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 4½ cups sugar, 1 box powdered fruit pectin.

Wash rhubarb, slice thin; cover with ½ cup sugar and let stand for 15 minutes. Wash, pit and grind or chop cherries fine. Combine fruits and measure 4 cups of fruit into saucepan. Add lemon juice. Measure remaining 4 cups of sugar into bowl, set aside to be used later.

Add powdered fruit pectin; stir constantly until mixture comes to a boil. Add sugar; bring to a full rolling boil and boil for 1 minute. Remove from heat, stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes. Ladle into hot, sterilized jars and seal or paraffin immediately.

Father's Day Is On Horizon, Dads Are Feeling Sheepish

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, (AP)— Father's Day is on the horizon, and already fathers are feeling sheepish about it.

They are not sure whether they like a day in their honor. Or at least they pretend to feel this way.

"It just means I will be sandbagged by all those odd presents I escaped last Christmas—the strange gifts women think men yearn for," said one father. "And, naturally, I'll then have to take the whole tribe out to dinner, pick up the check—and pay later the bills for the gimmicks mama and the kids gave me."

Father is not used to being a hero in this civilization, even for a day. It is a bit different with Mother's Day. Motherhood is a symbol of lonely heroism in any age, and a true symbol. But for some reason nobody, so far as I know, has ever built a statue to "The Pioneer Father."

There should be such a statue. If I designed it, it would be a tired, patient old bull, the wrinkles of muscled duty showing in his fly-bitten shoulders, as he bent his horns down to protect his mate and brood against the wolves of life and time.

I have never been a father. But my old man was, and a good one, too. I appreciated him before his death, more than 15 years ago, but I never really told him so, although I think he knew. Men often feel a kinship between each other that neither puts into words. Men are shyer than women.

Even so, I have always regretted I didn't say more to my dad. It cannot hurt to tell your heart. And I write this only for sons whose fathers are still alive, to whom they can still say "thank you"—along with sending them that necktie.

My dad was a coal miner's son and came up rough and strong. He married young, sired four sons quickly, and—a later sweet surprise—a daughter, my sister, Dolores.

She was the blessing of his later days, and he wore his heart to silence by hard work at 48. Boys are a lot of trouble to a father. But a daughter is a comfort. A boy begins to be a man at 5, and to pull within himself and be stubborn, and make his father feel his years. But a daughter restores her dad forever, protecting with her love the yearning for youth he needs.

All his sons gave dad more than his share of woes, although none of us ever robbed a bank or went to reform school. And he was always a strong wall of understanding. He was one of the parents who knew how hard it was for a human being to grow up. His sympathy was a bright shield when we really needed it, although he coddled none of us.

He was a tall tower in the desperate hour, the hour that a boy growing up feels to him, at least, is desperate.

My sister made him happy, his four boys gave him problems. In my case he couldn't understand why I insisted on going to college instead of staying in his grocery store and learning business. But as mother backed me, he backed us both. I earned most of my way, but there were a couple of years when dad didn't get a new suit.

There are so many things a man can remember when he recalls a dead dad. About the time I got in a car wreck, and he came and drove me back to college, feeling out of place in a fraternity house in his rough suit, and made no complaint at all. As I hadn't been at the wheel, he thought my broken jaw and dislocated hip would give me enough to think about. They did—for the rest of my life.

When I was a child he would give me a dime and say, "Now don't spend all that on one girl, son." I gave my little goddaughters a quarter today and say, "now don't spend all of it on one boy, girls." And they laugh at the idea that any girl would ever spend a whole quarter on a boy. So family jests go down through generations.

There must be millions of Americans who on this Father's day will recall warmly the dad that isn't there to praise. This is the flower of remembrance I would plant upon my own one's grave:

"Life may not have given you what you wanted. But you are not forgotten, after these years, by those you created—and stood by. If I were a dad I could only ask I might be as fine a one as you were. One of your sons, speaking for all of your children."

Versailles Buys Car for Police

By Mrs. Charles Harris

VERSAILLES—The city of Versailles recently purchased a new Studebaker truck for the Versailles street department and a new Chevrolet passenger car for use as a police car. Formerly local officers have had to use their own cars for police work.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Jones, owners and managers of Jones Shoes and Clothing Store in Versailles, have opened a 5 and 10 cent store in the Heineman Building, on the northwest corner of the square.

Mrs. Ruby Carlton, who has spent the past year in Kansas City, where she was employed, arrived home Sunday and will spend some time at her home here.

Mrs. W. J. Padgett had as her guests on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. Beismore Lamm and daughter, Pama Lee, of Smithton, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Padgett and son, Gregg.

Judy Searcy, Nancy Williams, Sharon Hall and Ann Templeton attended a Methodist youth camp at Knob Noster last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Norvel Daniels and daughter, Coleen, and Mr. and Mrs. Benton Murray and son of Brighton, Colo., spent several days here with relatives and friends and attended the Murray reunion held at the Fair Grounds Park Sunday.

What? No Art!

PLYMOUTH, England (AP)—The local art club has reluctantly decided to dry its paint brushes and put away its palettes and easels—local girls are too shy to post for it in the nude.

"We've advertised and made personal approaches—offering of course the union rate of five shillinnng (70 cents) an hour," sadly complained Robert Huck, post office worker who was to have taught the 20 member class that includes civil servants and middle-aged housewives.

"But professional models are impossible to get here, and all the girls I asked personally were horified and said everyone would know them."

An alternate suggestion that the class should forget about real life and concentrate on still life subjects was turned down—the club members said they could do that sort of thing at home.

Waffle Recipe Never Fails, Is Missouri Cook's Boast

For breakfast, how about waffles with currant or apple jelly? Mrs. D. G. Harrison of Joplin, Mo., says her family recipe is a success every time. So what are we waiting for?

Crisp Waffles
(Makes about 8 waffles)

Two - and - one - half cups sifted all - purpose flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 2 tablespoons sugar, ¾ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, well beaten, 1¾ cups milk, ½ cup melted shortening, butter or margarine, currant or apple jelly.

Sift flour, baking powder, sugar and salt together. In a bowl, combine eggs, milk and shortening; mix thoroughly. Stir in sifted dry ingredients; beat until smooth. Bake in hot waffle iron. Serve hot crisp waffles with butter or margarine and currant or apple jelly.

For a substantial meatless luncheon dish, try this:

Eggs In Parsley Thyme Sauce
(Makes 8 servings—1 2-3 cups sauce)

Two tablespoons chopped onions, 1-3 cup chopped parsley, 3 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, ⅛ teaspoon powdered thyme, ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups liquefied nonfat dry milk, 4 English muffins, 8 hard - cooked eggs, quartered lengthwise.

In a saucepan, saute onions and parsley in butter over low heat. Cook until onions are lightly browned. Remove from heat. Add flour, thyme and salt; blend well. Gradually stir in liquefied nonfat dry milk, blending until smooth. Place over medium heat and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 3 minutes.

Split and toast English muffins. Arrange one egg (quartered) on each muffin half. Pour sauce over eggs. Serve at once.

Serve Vegetable-Cheese Loaf

Mixed vegetables — either left-over or frozen — make good eating these warm days. So let's look in at the Dulany test kitchens in Fruitland, Md., and see what vegetable magic they are up to.

Vegetable-Cheese Loaf
(Serves 6-8)

To 2-3 cup boiling water add ¼ cup butter or margarine and 1 package frozen mixed vegetables. Return to boil, cook gently until no water remains. Or else use 1½ cups leftover mixed vegetables.

Combine cooked vegetables with ½ cup cooked macaroni, 1 cup cream, 4 beaten eggs, 1 cup cubed sharp cheese, 1 teaspoon salt, dash pepper, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 pimiento chopped, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley.

Pour into greased baking dish, lined with heavy waxed bread wrapper. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 45 minutes or until firm but not dry. Turn onto serving platter and serve with hot tomato sauce.

Baby Lima Bean Cheesebit
(Serves 3-4)

Cook defrosted frozen baby lima beans in 1¼ cups milk for 10 minutes. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Thicken with 1 tablespoon flour mixed with 2 tablespoons cold milk. Stir in 3 tablespoons catsup, pour into baking dish. Spread with a layer (1 cup) of grated American cheese and top with buttered crumbs or crushed potato chips. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 to 35 minutes.

GEM-LIKE WEDDING RING COOKIES are the creation of a noted Mississippi home economist for June brides of the nation.

Serve Weddin-Ring Cookies

For the June bride, or bride of any other time, here's a new idea—Wedding Ring Cookies, colorful and festive, for the guests to take home packed like real gem-enriched rings in small white boxes tied with ribbon.

Martha Stewart Tupper, who comes from Fayette, Miss., near Natchez, originated the idea. She's a noted American home economist.

Miss Tupper says that even if you've never made cookies before, you'll manage these Wedding - Ring Cookies successfully. You just add water and a little flour to the basic cookie mix to make the dough. The centers cut out to make the ring shapes will make little extra cookies to decorate attractively for the wedding-cookie tray.

Tea or coffee is all that is needed to complete these novel homemade wedding refreshments, but if you wish to serve more, add ice cream or little assorted tea sandwiches.

Wedding-Ring Souvenir Cookies
(4 dozen cookies)

One 14-ounce package cookie mix, ½ cup sifted all - purpose flour, ¼ cup warm water.

Empty cookie mix into mixing bowl. Add flour and water; mix with a fork, then knead with hands until blended. Chill 10 minutes. Roll out on floured board or pastry cloth to ⅛ - inch thickness. Cut out dough into 2 - inch rounds. Cut out center of rounds with a 1⅛ - inch round cutter. Press silver candies in rings.

Use rounds cut out of centers as additional cookies. Bake on an ungreased baking sheet in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 6 to 8 minutes. Decorate little round cookies with a pastry tube, making an edging of miniature peaks of pink frosting.

Expensive Swim

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — A high dive and a short swim proved expensive sport for a Norwich University lad.

A group of friends dared a 19-year-old student to dive from the Spring Street bridge into the North Branch for a $5 bet. A neighbor who saw the fellow strip to the waist and dive into the cold water called the police. The "law" arrived in time to assist the swimmer from the stream and the next morning he was in court charged with breach of peace. The fine was $50 and costs of $8.20. The judge suggested the friends might raise the ante to defray the costs.

Onions Are Vegetable Queen Of Dad's Day Dinner Tables

Men like onions. Fried, French-fried, stuffed or raw onions, that's what the boys order when they are on their own. So include them in your surprise Father's Day dinner if you want to please your particular onion-eater.

Steak and onions — that's always a prize winner. Just peel 4 medium onions and slice. Heat about 1½ tablespoons of butter or meat drippings in frying pan and cook onions slowly — very slowly until delicately brown. Turn with a fork gently while cooking and if necessary add more fat. Salt delicately. Serve either on steak or in hot side dish.

French - fried onion rings, crisp and flavorful, will make Dad purr with satisfaction. Use large sweet onions, the Bermuda type. Slice into about ¼-inch pieces and separate each slice into rings. Stand them in ice water until thoroughly chilled, then drain and dip in milk. Next drain and dredge with flour. Fry in deep, hot fat, only a few at a time. Drain on unglazed paper and sprinkle with salt.

Onions stuffed with fluffy mashed potatoes and cheese or with ham and bread crumbs are wonderful eating for Father's Day and any other day. Friends in Maryland recommend this recipe:

Savory Stuffed Onions
(Serves 6)

Six medium-to-large onions, ½ cup chopped ham, ½ cup soft bread crumbs, pepper to taste, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon fat, enough fine, dry bread crumbs to cover onions, and ½ cup milk.

First remove a slice from the top of each onion and then parboil the onions until almost, but not quite, tender. Drain and remove the centers, so that the onions are in the form of 6 little cups. Chop the onion that was scooped out and combine with it the ham and soft bread crumbs. Then add seasoning and fat and refill the onion cups.

Place them in a baking dish, cover with the fine, dry bread crumbs, add the milk, and bake until tender in a hot oven (400 to 450 degrees F.).

Swimming during a lightning and thunder storm is not recommended. A person can be electrocuted by a charge carried by the water from the bolt striking at some distance.

Read Chicago Expert's Way Of Cooking Beef Rib Roast

A large rib roast for Sunday dinner — there's a welcome and practical suggestion. We spent several hours with Monica Clark at the American Meat Institute's test kitchens in Chicago. She is director of home economics and this is her latest report on how to cook standing rib roasts, just as she wrote it:

Rib roast of beef is a snap to prepare — it's a one-two-three proposition of placing the roast in a shallow pan (bone side down), inserting a meat thermometer and slipping it into the oven. No watching or basting is required.

At one time it was thought necessary to sear a roast in a hot oven to brown it thoroughly on the outside. Now the recommendation of the meat industry is to use one oven temperature throughout the roasting period — 325 degrees F. This not only is a simpler procedure, but also results in less shrinkage and more servings. Incidentally, the roast browns beautifully without an initial searing.

Extra Roasting Pointers

1. There's no need to flour a roast before cooking, nor to baste it during cooking. The fat on the outside of the roast drips down over the meat, acting as a self-baster.

2. Use a meat thermometer, inserting it into the center of the roast. This is the only way to be absolutely sure your roast is cooked to just the degree of doneness you like — rare, medium or well done.

3. Roast a rib roast of beef at 325 degrees F. and follow this time schedule:

Rare—22 minutes per pound, 140 degrees F. internal temperature.

Medium — 26 minutes per pound, 160 degrees F. internal temperature.

Well - done — 30 minutes per pound, 170 degrees F. internal temperature.

Rib Roast Gravy — The drippings left in the pan for gravy making will not be excessive, especially if the roast has been cooked to the rare stage. All the flavor and goodness will be in the meat and not in the drippings. The procedure for making rib roast gravy is as follows:

Spoon off most of the fat, blend a little flour with the fat and drippings, then add only a small amount of water, ½ to 1 cup. Stir constantly until thickened. Taste gravy and add a little more water if gravy can be diluted. If the flavor is not full - bodied, add a little bouillon or meat extract. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

ALL BUTTONED UP—London costermongers and their families follow ancient tradition and dress up in costumes lavishly decorated with white pearl buttons. Derby Day is the time when the "pearlies" come into their decorative own.

Chef's Shallot Butter Sauce Works Wonders With Beef

Marcel Grange, born in the south of France, is a master of beef cookery. We had a long talk with him at Cafe Chambord in New York City. It is recognized as one of the great French restaurants of the world, and Mr. Grange is the head chef.

His shallot butter sauce for steak is simple but magical. His sliced filet of beef with Bordelaise sauce is unbelievably tender. So are all his ways of glorifying beef.

Here are notes we made as he talked:

Beurre d'echalotes
(Shallot Butter)

Melt ⅛ pound sweet butter in frying pan. Add 1 tablespoon chopped shallots. Cook a few minutes until butter becomes golden brown. Pour over steak.

Filet de Boeuf en Tranches, Bordelaise
(Sliced filet of beef)

Slice filet ⅛-inch thick. Season with salt and pepper. Heat 1 ounce of sweet butter in frying pan. When butter becomes brown, add filets. Brown on both sides quickly and keep medium rare. Remove the filets from the frying pan, and pour out the butter. Add ½ glass of red Bordeaux wine if desired.

Cook until wine is reduced then add 1 cup of brown sauce (fond de veau). Cook for 2 minutes then add a few diced pieces of marrow. Finish the sauce away from the fire with ½ - ounce sweet butter. Pour the sauce over the filets — sprinkle some chopped parsley over it and serve.

Fond de Veau

Roast 2 pounds of crushed veal bones in open pan. When browned, add a diced onion, carrot, celery, half of a bay leaf, pinch of thyme and parsley. Let cook 10 minutes—then sprinkle with two tablespoons of flour.

Allow to brown for 15 minutes, stirring it a few times. Add 3 ounces of tomato paste and 2 quarts of cold water. Let cook 3 hours, skimming off the top often. Allow to cook slowly to reduce by half the volume of liquid. Strain the remaining sauce.

A new bubble level, attachable to any hand-held portable electric or pneumatic drilling machine by two screws, makes it easy to drill a perfectly straight vertical hole through a floor or a horizontal hole through a wall. Operators watch the level, not the drill, to keep from making a wobbly hole.

A new portable addresser, easily held in use by fingers and thumb of one hand, is designed to get mail addressed quickly and accurately by organizations with limited mailing lists. Master copy is typed on a spirit roll, which holds 250 addresses, and is easily inserted into the machine.

Texas Bird Shelter

GALVESTON, Tex.—One of few places in North America where the roseate spoonbill will nest is a small island which would have disappeared years ago had not Texans saved it.

It is Vington Island in Galveston Bay. When members of the Outdoor Nature Club of Huston discovered the exotic bird nesting on the island in 1930, they also saw that the island was eroding away.

Club members planted oleanders, hackberries and other shrubs and trees to hold the soil. The plants also furnished the birds with more shade and nesting sites. Now the roseate spoonbill is often joined by Louisiana herons, black-crowned night herons, great blue herons, snowy egrets and glossy ibis. The island has been declared a game sanctuary by the Texas legislature.

Do Men Like Fancy Food?

FOR FATHER'S DAY, or any day — Norway Sardine Pie.

Ever hear a man say he doesn't like fancy food?

Well, most men don't — if by fancy you mean casseroles into everything but the kitchen sink has gone, and a lot of sweet salads.

But give a man a dish like this Norway Sardine Pie, that can trace its haute cuisine ancestry to a long line of famous chefs, and he'll go for its fine flavor and texture.

With Father's Day around the corner, here are some points to bear in mind about the kind of cooking Dad likes the year 'round.

TEXTURE is important. As a rule, men prefer foods they can distinguish to ones that are chopped. If you're making chicken hash for a man, it's better to cube the chicken than to mince it. In the same way, men prefer stew with bold pieces of beef or lamb in it, to stew in which the meat is cut into bare mouthfuls.

FLAVOR should be undisguised. Men usually like straight-forward dishes with the honest flavor of the foods predominating. They don't like foods so overseasoned and combined that they don't know what they're eating.

APPEARANCE should never be under-rated. The meat-and-potatoes guy may laugh at the little woman and tell her to cut out the fancy stuff, but he appreciates food that's served attractively. No man ever objected to batter - fried onion rings, and crisp radishes with some of their bright green leaves left on, as garnishes for a steak.

STURDY MAIN DISHES are a must. After a hearty main course, it's all right to serve a man a fruit whip for dessert, but he doesn't usually want a souffle as his chief dinner dish. Men want at least one dish in a meal to have a robust quality. This Norway Sardine Pie, for instance, with its rich pastry crust will fill the bill for a summer lunch. Serve it with a hearty salad of fresh vegetables and strips of cheese.

Norway Sardine Pie

Ingredients: Two 3¾-ounce tins Norway sardines, 1½ cups milk, 3 eggs, ¼ teaspoon salt, pepper, dash of nutmeg, rich pastry for 8½ inch pie plate.

Method: Turn sardines into colander and allow to drain thoroughly. Scald milk by heating until film forms over top; beat eggs thoroughly to combine yolks and whites; slowly pour hot milk over eggs beating continuously as you do so. Stir in salt, pepper to taste and nutmeg. Break each sardine into two or three pieces and arrange on bottom of pastry-lined pie plate; pour custard mixture over. Bake in hot (400F) oven 30 to 35 minutes, or until silver knife inserted near center of pie comes out clean. Serve warm. Makes 6 servings.

Note: When you line pie plate, turn back pastry and then flute to make a stand-up rim for sardine-custard filling.

Farley Granger Strikes Out To Learn to Be Better Actor

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bobby-sox idol Farley Granger has left his thriving Hollywood career behind to learn how to be a better actor.

It may sound like sheer folly, but the handsome young actor has wiggled out of his contract with Sam Goldwyn, closed his home here and departed for more stimulating climates. That doesn't mean he won't be back. He explained his plan before he left.

"A couple of years ago, I was making a picture," recalled Granger, the typical Hollywood hero in slacks and tennis sweater. "I stopped myself in the middle of it and realized I was sliding by on my previous reputation and the tricks I had learned in pictures. That wasn't good.

"I decided I should do something about it. After all, I want to be an actor as long as I can. I know that I can't always get by because of a bobby-sox following. Some day a new guy like Tab Hunter will come along and they'll flock to him. If I haven't grown as an actor, I'll have nothing left to go on but personality. Personality is a good quality for an actor, but he has to have ability too."

Granger decided he would have to return to the stage in order to gain more maturity as an actor. Except for a three-year hitch in the Navy, he had been in the movies 10 years and hadn't done any stage work since his middle teens.

His boss, Mr. Goldwyn, couldn't see it his way. He would give the lad contractual concessions but never the time off to do a play. This and other matters touched off an intermittent feud in which the actor was suspended a number of times.

He finally got his freedom. Eighteen months of it, anyway. Granger is able to direct his own destiny for that period, then Goldwyn has the option of signing him up to another contract.

His first try at the footlights will be a four-week summer theater tour in "John Loves Mary" in New England. Then he leaves for Italy where he'll make "Senso," a color epic with Alida Valli and George Sanders.

"After that, I want to tackle Broadway," he remarked. "I've got a play in mind that I'd like to do. If they can wait until I get back from Italy—about December—I'll do it."

If he gets into a hit play in New York, that would mean he wouldn't be able to do a picture until summer of 1954 and perhaps later. How would that affect his youthful following, which is notably fickle?

"That's one of the gambles I have to take," he replied. "I may flop on my face when I try the stage. But the important thing is that I tried. It's more important to have tried the thing and failed than never to try. I would always bear the regret for not having taken the chance."

Try Californian's Way With Peaches In Molds of Gelatin

Like peaches? Then listen to Deacon Williams of San Francisco. In his home, California cling peaches get the red carpet treatment. For example, these creamy peach molds:

Creamy Peach Molds
(Makes 10 small molds)

One envelope (1 tablespoon) plain gelatin, 2 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup syrup from canned cling peaches, 3 tablespoons granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup lemon juice, 1 pound (2 cups) cottage cheese, 2-3 cup orange sections, 1 cup canned cling peach slices, salad greens, additional peach slices for garnish.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat peach syrup with sugar and salt, and dissolve softened gelatin in it. Blend in lemon juice. Cool. Force cottage cheese through a sieve. Dice orange sections and peach slices. Fold cheese and fruit into cooled gelatin mixture. Turn into individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens and garnish with additional peach slices.

The following salad dressing is perfect for all kinds of fruit salads:

Velvety Salad Dressing
(Makes about 1 pint dressing)

One cup peach whole fruit nectar, ¼ cup honey, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ cup whipping cream.

Combine nectar, honey, cornstarch and salt. Boil 2 minutes or until thick, stirring continuously. Remove from heat and stir in lemon juice. Chill. Whip cream stiff and fold into nectar mixture blending lightly. Serve over fruit salads.

This ripe olive dressing is excellent for all kinds of vegetable salads—either tossed or arranged:

Ripe Olive Dressing
(Makes about 1½ cups)

One cup mayonnaise, ½ cup chopped ripe olives, ¼ cup chopped American cheese, few drops Tabasco sauce.

Combine all ingredients.
